PETITION OPPOSES BINGO—A petition opposing the legalization of bingo, which was adopted by elders and ministers of the Classis of Ulster of the Reformed Churches, is presented to the Rev. Harold Pangburn, seated, pastor of Saugerties Reformed Church and president of the Classis, by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of Woodstock Reformed Church. The Rev. J. Classis Says Gambling Is Nurtured by Game

Elders and ministers of the Classis of Ulster of the Reformed Churches of the area unanimously adopted a petition opposing the legalization of bingo during their spring meeting Monday at Fair Street Reformed Church.

The measure was formally introduced by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of Woodstock Reformed Church and the matter was later discussed by the social action committee and chairman, the Rev. Kenneth Cordes, pastor of the Gardiner Reformed Church.

Going Before Synod

The petition, dealing with the state bingo referendum, was presented to the Rev. Harold Pangburn, president of the Classis, who will introduce it at the session of the Particular Synod of New York during a future meeting in Hastings-on-Hudson.

The statement follows:

"The central issue in the coming Bingo Referendum involves the church's responsibility to resist racketeering and other law-breaking procedures that undermine our American system of democratic government. This is witnessed by the late Hon. F. H. La Guardia, former mayor of New York city, who found that the gambling interests were the hardest to fight among law-breakers. The investigations being carried out by the Senate Committee on Improper Labor and Management Practices have revealed gambling operations involved.

"Bingo is regarded by many as a harmless amusement which provides churches and other organizations with an easy way to raise money. We believe bingo nurtures the gambling spirit. Any type of gambling is a fulcrum upon which destructive forces rest a level to upset law and order in the common life. Religious and civic organizations defeat their patriotic designs to promote law and order by using a system of fund-raising that easily leads to participation in under-cover policy and other unlawful gambling enterprises carried on by racketeers.

"In the early history of this country support of public and civic projects through lotteries was common having been carried into the New World from European homelands. But as this nation gained in political experience and prospered such gambling procedures were abandoned. For it was discovered that indolence and corruption resulted wherever they were employed.

Defeat Is Urged

"Provisions for a referendum in the measure passed by the New York State Legislature and for preventing bingo from becoming an enterprise for profit seem democratic and liberal, but in that proportion are dangerous. For they make the whole matter look fair and harmless. No religious, civic or patriotic organization can favor lawlessness and racketeering nor measures that may foster them. Therefore, we call upon our people to oppose legalized bingo."

Wilson Loses Doe Fight Assembly Passes Bill for Open Season

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson last night lost a long, heated debate in Albany against a wide-open antlerless deer season bill passed by a roll call vote of 85 to 52.

The bill, sponsored by the New York State Conservation Council, is being taken on the last day of the open season, was introduced by Assemblyman Janet Hill Gordon, (R) Chenango county.

In debate of the bill Assemblyman Wilson was opposed by Assemblyman Robert Pomeroy, (R) Dutchess county.

Following passage of the bill Assemblyman Wilson said he would urge Governor Harriman to veto the Gordon bill should it pass the Senate.

Urges Clubs to Act

He also urged rod and gun clubs, conservationists and interested persons in counties opposing an open deer season to write or wire Governor Harriman urging veto of the Gordon bill.

In his objections to the Gordon bill, Assemblyman Wilson said it infringes on home rule—the right of municipalities to govern themselves in matters which affect them locally.

Assemblyman Wilson asked that Mrs. Gordon yield to a certain question on ambiguous and illusory provisions of the bill and he added in his address to the Assembly that the State Conservation Council which drafted the bill "did indeed produce one of the poorest pieces of proposed legislation that I have ever seen."

16 Deaths Blamed on Accidents Food, Supplies Dropped From Air

(By The Associated Press)

The Great Plains area still is digging out of snow drifts as high as house tops today.

Deaths in the weekend blizzard rose to 33, spread over nine states:

Texas 7, Illinois 7, Oklahoma 5, Kansas 4, Nebraska 3, Indiana 3, Missouri 2, New Mexico 1 and Iowa 1.

Sixteen of the deaths were attributed to traffic accidents in which the storm was a factor. The other 17 included seven dead of exposure, six who were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in stalled cars and four who died of heart attacks from exertion as they tried to shovel themselves out or struggle through the snow to shelter.

Travel Still Stalled

Communications and travel on roads and rail lines still were stalled.

Rescue operations began yesterday as skids cleared behind the storm, which veered northeastward toward the Great Lakes, partially spent but still potent.

A prodigious task faced rescuers.

Hundreds of small communities across the desolate plains had been isolated since Saturday.

Motorists Taken In

Despite their own plight, inhabitants of the area threw open their doors to refugees of the storm. Several towns were crowded with them. Farm homes welcomed motorists seeking safety.

Snowbound cars by the hundreds were counted from the air yesterday over the six-state high plains area—eastern New Mexico and Colorado, the panhandles of Texas and Oklahoma, western Kansas and Nebraska.

Rescuers feared more dead would be uncovered as the heavy snow thawed.

Copters Join Rescue

Food and supplies were dropped from the air and carried to disaster victims. Volunteer

Furrier Making Uptown Store Modern in Design

When alterations now going on at Leventhals, 288 Wall street, are completed this oldest of established furriers in the Hudson valley, will have one of the most modern and artistically designed stores in the area.

Leventhals was established in 1900 by Hyman Leventhal, father of Reuben Leventhal who now conducts the business, in a store in the old Argus building across the street and next to the court house. Two years later the present site of the store was purchased and has since housed the fur establishment.

The store is being entirely remodeled and modernized. The present outside stairway entrance is being removed and the entire front will be used for display purposes with an entrance to the upper floors opening from an inside vestibule.

To the right will be a high level "six by six" show window and at the left will be a large

Hodges Building Shopping Center at Lake Katrine

James M. Hodges, proprietor of Hodges' Garage on the Saugerties Road at Lake Katrine, is erecting a shopping center opposite his garage on the site which was recently occupied by the Putnam Mobile Homes trailer site.

The building, of cement block construction, will be one story in height and 100 feet by 36 feet. Foundation for the building is practically completed. Herman Hesse of West Camp is the general contractor.

Plans call for a single building 100 feet long, with nine foot ceilings, five entrances and five

Egypt's Right Questioned

Dulles Asks About Forcing UN Troops

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles questioned today whether Egypt has the right to force United Nations troops out of Egyptian territory before their peacemaking mission is completed.

Dulles also told a news conference he thinks UN emergency forces should be stationed on both sides of the Israeli-Arab armistice line. That would involve their being partly on Israeli territory.

Unoccupied Home In East Kingston Damaged by Blaze

A fire of undetermined origin caused considerable damage to an unoccupied home owned by Louis Ferguelli of East Kingston Monday afternoon.

The two-story brick home located behind St. Colman's Parish Hall caught fire when sparks from a burning storage shed on the property fell on the roof, it was reported.

Shed Near Home

Origin of the fire in the small wooden shed is unknown. The shed is only a few feet from the house.

It was reported that the home was being remodeled for occupancy in the near future. It had new walls and ceilings.

Part of the roof was burned through and beams beneath the roof were also damaged.

Most of the damage was caused by water, however, it was reported.

Responding to the fire were two pieces of equipment from the East Kingston Fire Department. The call was received at 2:45 p. m. At 3 p. m. a call was made through mutual aid for assistance and Ulster Hose Co. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Teamster Head Invokes Fifth Amendment

Beck Refuses to Give Up Records

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Dave Beck today invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to give Senate rackets investigators his financial records.

In an uproarious session, Beck also challenged the jurisdiction of the senators to investigate either his affairs or those of the giant Teamsters Union which he heads.

Told by Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) that evidence indicates Beck "may have misappropriated $320,000" of union funds, Beck said any union member who felt "aggrieved" could take it up through established union procedures.

Not Hiding Anything

In pleading the Constitution's protection under the first three articles and under the Fourth and Fifth Amendments, Beck insisted "I'm not hiding, behind anything."

He was, he shouted, just exercising his rights as a citizen.

But Beck, under intense questioning from McClellan, also said he honestly believed that turning his records over to the committee would tend to incriminate him.

McClellan pressed Beck to say whether he honestly believed that.

"Yes, I think so very definitely," Beck finally replied.

"So you think it would tend to incriminate him?" McClellan asked.

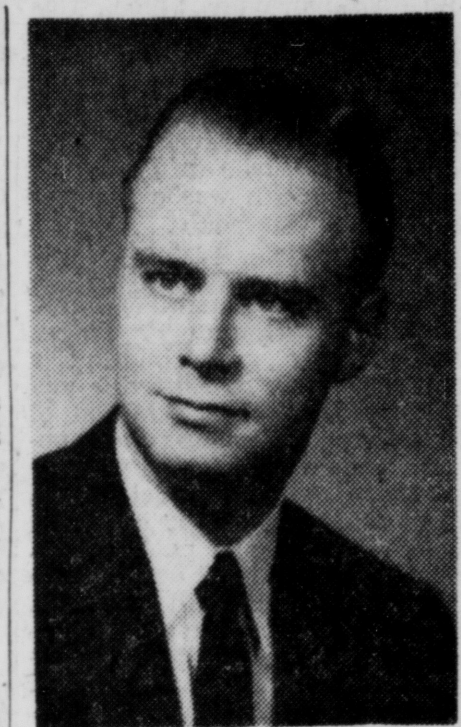

"Yes sir," said Beck.

The 63-year-old Beck, dapper and well turned out in a conservative gray suit and tan checked tie, came before the senators in response to a request and without a formal subpoena.

Served on Spot

But when he refused to turn over his financial records, he was served with a subpoena on the spot.

Still invoking the Fifth Amendment, he refused to comply. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Telephone Firm Superintendent Is Cancer Chairman

George E. Hedly Jr., district traffic superintendent of the New York Telephone Company's Kingston offices, has accepted the Ulster county chairmanship for the American Cancer Society's 1957 fund-raising campaign.

A native of Montclair, N. J., Mr. Hedly is a graduate of Colgate University, and veteran of service with the U. S. Navy. Prior to his transfer to Kingston in 1953, he was with the White Plains and Watertown offices of the Telephone Company.

Mr. Hedly is president of the Parent-Teacher Association of Chambers School, a ruling elder of First Presbyterian Church, and a member of the Kingston Lions Club. Mr. and Mrs. Hedly and their three children reside at 12 Stahlman Place.

Commenting on his appointment, Mr. Hedly said he considers it a "great honor," one to which he will dedicate his services, "in the hope that cancer may soon be classed as a completely curable disease."

Action Awaited on Two Other Bridge Projects Work on Route to Relieve City Traffic Expected to Start Near Memorial Day

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who learned several days ago that work on Kingston's arterial route system was due for an early start, said today he was gratified to learn also that Gov. Averell Harriman had signed a measure authorizing construction of the so-called Route 209 by-pass.

The latter will be a major by-pass route, extending west of the city from Route 209 at Hurley, across Route 28, and will connect with Route 9-W at a point near the western termination of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge road.

Bids Out Soon

Work on the spur extending from the western bridge approach at Route 32 to 9W is also slated for an early start. Edward J. Burns, administrative officer of the New York State Bridge Authority, said several days ago that the project should be up for bidding next month, and work should start before Memorial Day.

Work is also expected to start on the city's arterial route system in the summer. This project is also expected to contain later provision for eliminating the Washington avenue viaduct bottleneck and replacement of the narrow Esopus creek bridge.

Final Action Awaited

Favorable final action in Albany is awaited to permit start of preliminary work in conjunction with construction of the proposed Newburgh-Bacon bridge, and on another measure that would give the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie a new arterial approach route on its east side.

Poughkeepsie's arterial bill has passed both Houses and is now with Gov. Harriman. It seeks a state loan of $1,500,000 for partial financing of the project.

The Newburgh bridge measure seeks a loan for a like sum. The measure passed in the Assembly and appeared due for a vote in the Senate today.

Introduced by Wilson

Mayor Stang said today that he was "very gratified to learn that Gov. Harriman had signed the bill introduced by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson," authorizing the Route 209 by-pass, "which will meet Route 9W at the bridge approach."

"This road when completed," he said, "will be of great value to the city. It will relieve to a great extent the traffic burden now imposed upon the uptown area. I hope that work will start immediately. Time is of the essence insofar as the public is concerned."

Boon to Kingston

"The combination of this project and that of the arterial route, on which work is due to start this spring, he said "will be a great boon to Kingston."

Gov. Harriman indicated, when he was here at the bridge opening Feb. 2, that he would give early approval to the Route 209 by-pass project.

The latter will require several months of planning before bids are sought, but plans for the city's arterial route system have been under way since 1954, and are now ready to be executed. Elimination of the viaduct and replacement of the Esopus creek are expected to be treated as later phases of the project.

A spur connection between Albany avenue and Broadway and the Route 28 thruway interchange area is a major phase of the arterial route plan, and is expected to start first.

To Be Major Artery

The Route 209 by-pass will be a major traffic artery in that it will connect with the Route 28 thruway interchange, the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge road, and will connect Route 209 with major highways in the Kingston area without involvement with city traffic.

A section of Route 32 will be relocated near the western approach road of the bridge. That route is also slated for improvement north of the bridge approach, and for several miles between Kingston and Rosendale.

A strip of road, leading off the west bridge approach to Route 32, which was temporarily repaired to permit opening of the span in February, will be permanently paved in conjunction with the 9W-32 spur project.

Checking on Door

Buffalo, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Investigators at Mohawk Airlines were checking today to determine how one of their passenger planes managed to lose a rear baggage compartment door three thousand feet in the air. A twin-engine Convair, on its way to Boston, dropped a 50-pound aluminum door shortly after take-off yesterday. The door fell on the roof of a volunteer fire company hall in nearby Clarence. No one was hurt but state police said a light on top of the building was damaged.

Twining Heads Defense Key Posts Reshuffled by Eisenhower

Washington, March 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a major reshuffle of key defense jobs, today nominated Gen. Nathan F. Twining to be chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. He will succeed Adm. Arthur W. Radford on Aug. 15.

Other Changes

1. Accepted the resignation of Reuben B. Robertson Jr. as deputy secretary of defense and nominated Secretary of the Air Force Donald A. Quarles to succeed him, effective April 25.

2. Named James H. Douglas, now under secretary of the air force, to succeed Quarles as secretary.

Burke Is Renamed

3. Nominated Gen. Thomas D. White, now air force vice chief of staff, to be chief of staff, succeeding Twining.

4. Nominated Adm. Arleigh A. Burke for a new two-year term as chief of naval operations.

The fourth member of the joint chiefs of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, army chief of staff still has until June 29, 1959, to serve before his term expires. Radford, the retiring chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, will have served two two-year terms as head of that top policy planning unit when he steps down on Aug. 15. The law now limits one man's service in the post to that length of time.

Stillman, Heppner, Likely To Head Bridge Authority

John S. Stillman of Cornwall-on-Hudson was expected to be elected chairman and Ernest M. Heppner, of 35 Crane street, this city appeared due to become vice-chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority at its organization meeting in Poughkeepsie this afternoon.

Robert Hoe, of Poughkeepsie, served as chairman and Dr. John L. Edwards, of Hudson, was vice-chairman during the past year.

The authority was also expected to create the post of honorary chairman to be held by Robert Hoe, who had also served several years ago as its chairman.

Edward J. Burns of Catskill was expected to be named to succeed himself as the authority's administrative officer.

William Haas of Coxsackie, newest member of the board, was recently appointed by Gov. Averell Harriman to succeed Neal Brandow, of West Coxsackie. Stillman and Heppner were also appointed in the Harriman administration.

The reorganization meeting was slated to be held in the authority's new quarters at Poughkeepsie. The office, prior to last week's moving, was maintained at 22 Ferry street, this city. It was established there in May, 1949, when former Ulster County Highway Commissioner, the late James F. Loughran, of this city was chairman.

Other business at the session after reorganization, was expected to deal with minor functional and fiscal details.

OPEN HOUSE FRIDAY—Herzog's, 332 Wall street, is holding open house Friday marking completion of extensive renovations. New hardware and paint departments will be open to public view as a long-established Kingston firm continues to grow with the community and county. Cutting the ribbon officially opening the new departments is Susan Herzog, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herzog. Left to right, Paul Jordan, Jr., manager, Miss Herzog, daughter of the new departments, and Lee Osterhoudt, oldest employee of the firm who has been with Herzog's for 31 years, and Robert Herzog. The store has been completely renovated, new cabinets and fixtures installed, etc., to make the store as much self-service as possible in this type of business. The accent is on modern display techniques which, incidentally, provide the store with additional floor space. Betty Moore will be on hand Friday for consultations in regard to interior decoration. There will also be a Stanley Electric Tool demonstration on Friday, 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Herzog's first carried paint, auto accessories and battery radios. In 1927 hardware was added and in 1935 the present basement opened. (Freeman photo)

Herriot, Former French Premier, Dies at Age 84

Lyon, France, March 26 (AP)—Edouard Herriot, three times premier of France and honorary president of the National Assembly, died today after a long illness. He was 84.

Wife at Bedside

Herriot was the "grand old man" of the French radical Socialist Party, which despite its title is a conservative political group.

His wife was at his bedside when he died. Herriot had been suffering from serious heart and lung ailments. Pierre Cardinal Gerrier was also with him.

Herriot first became premier in 1924 and remained in power less than a year. He formed his second government in 1926 but it toppled in 48 hours because of financial problems.

In 1932 he came back into power but he was shortly overthrown because of insistence that France pay a World War I debt instalment to the United States at the appointed time.

Freud by Reds

He was an early backer of Pierre Mendes-France and one of the early movers for a United Europe.

Herriot was imprisoned in 1942 because of his strong stand against the Vichy government. Later he was moved to Germany and Russian troops liberated him.

In 1947 he took one of the top posts in the Fourth Republic, President of the Assembly. He retired in 1953 because of his health.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many relatives, friends, and neighbors for their kind expression of sympathy and many acts of kindness shown us during our recent bereavement in the death of our sister, Louisa E. Hornbeck.

Former Tammany Hall Leader Dies

JAMES J. HINES

Long Beach, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—James J. (Jimmy) Hines, 80, onetime power in Manhattan's Tammany Hall who went to prison in 1940, died in Long Beach Memorial Hospital today of a kidney ailment.

Hines had been in the hospital since March 12. The veteran political leader broke with Tammany to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago in 1932. Tammany had been solid for Al Smith.

Convicted in 1939

Hines later became dispenser of federal patronage for Manhattan.

But in 1939 Hines was convicted on charges of conspiring to protect policy rackets in the city. He served 3 years and 11 months in Sing Sing Prison.

Former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, then Manhattan district attorney, prosecuted the case.

Hines was born Dec. 18, 1876, in Manhattan. Politics was in his blood. His grandfather had been a Tammany worker in the time of Boss Tweed. His father served Tammany under Boss Croker.

Hines grew up in Manhattan's 15th Assembly District. At the height of his political career, his official position was only that of leader of the 11th District.

Quit School at 15

He quit school at the age of 15 and went to work in his father's blacksmith shop. Years after, Jimmy boasted that he had shod more than 40,000 horses.

The brawny Hines had the common touch as a politician. During his days as district leader, he provided food baskets, jobs, boat rides, children's parties and other favors for the needy.

Favor-seekers crowded his home. He received many of them before breakfast while he lounged in bed.

The seeds of Hines' downfall began in the prohibition era. The beer barons became the big names and Hines knew them all. He attended the fights with Arthur (Dutch) Schultz) Flegenheimer, who called him "Chief." Flegenheimer later was slain in Newark, N. J.

Paltz Child Dies Despite Efforts To Save Her Life

Every available emergency effort, including the use of an iron lung, was made here early today to save the life of an eight-year-old New Paltz girl, who had been rushed to Kingston Hospital with convulsions, but she was pronounced dead about an hour after arriving at the hospital.

Police headquarters was notified at 12:55 a. m., that emergency effort was required to save the life of the child, Ann Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Parker, of New Paltz, and police acted with dispatch in bringing assistance.

Officers William Slover, Gilbert Gray, Benjamin Osterhout and Robert FitzGibbon were dispatched into action and Lt. William Messing, relayed a request for transporting an iron lung from the Benedictine to Kingston Hospital to William Long, night attendant in the public works department. The latter supplied a pick-up truck.

The original request for the iron lung had come from Miss Gertrude Davis, night supervisor at Kingston Hospital. The Benedictine Hospital complied, and it was rushed to the child's assistance. Artificial respiration, and other means of resuscitation also had been used, but were of no avail.

Cause of the convulsions, it was learned later today, was not determined and a post-mortem examination was expected to be made.

Named to Judgeship
Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Justice George M. Carney of New York City's Court of Special Sessions was appointed by Gov. More Plans Made For Dedication Of River Bridge

The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Dedication Committee met at the Kirkland Hotel Monday night to discuss additional plans for the May 11 dedication program. Percy Bush, co-chairman of the committee, presided.

The program will start with a luncheon at the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck to which approximately 100 officials and guests will be invited. The capacity of the dining facilities limits the number which can be accommodated.

The dedication ceremony will take place in Kingston at a location still to be determined. It is planned to have the ceremony indoors to guard against the possibility of inclement weather.

Ceremony Open to Public
After the luncheon in Rhinebeck a motorcade of officials and guests will travel across the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge to the place of the dedication ceremony. The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremony.

The sale of souvenir tickets will now be stepped up. The special tickets, which include free tolls for two trips over the bridge, are being sold. There will be no further solicitation of funds to finance the cost of the dedication. Any funds left over will be spent by the committee to promote the area served by the bridge. The public and businessmen are invited to purchase tickets.

Two Handle Tickets
The distribution and sale of souvenir tickets is being handled by Frederick J. K. Ertel and Maynard Mizel on the west side of the Hudson River and the Rev. Paul E. Henry on the east side.

Any organization interested in promoting the sale of bridge dedication tickets are invited to contact those in charge. The help of a large number of individuals will be solicited to sell tickets. They are also available at the Chamber of Commerce office in Kingston and from Chester Haen in Rhinebeck.

William Bieber of Kingston is chairman of the dedication ceremony program. Early indications are that the program will attract a very large crowd.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 26 (AP)—Stock market prices drifted to the downside in light trading early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues fell from fractions to around a point in an undramatic session.

Once again, the market seemed headed for a lackadaisical performance, another in the series of minor ups and downs which has left the list about unchanged on balance in the past five weeks.

Little pressure from either the buying or selling end was apparent.

A few individual stocks made modest gains.

Declines were sharper in the metals division, continuing the trend of yesterday on the news of softer copper prices.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange where trading was very dull.

The trend in corporate bonds was higher in quiet dealings.

U. S. government bonds improved in moderately active transactions.

Ulster Barracks Elects Edelmuth First Commander

WILLIAM F. EDELMUTH
A former three-term mayor of the city is the first commander of Ulster Barracks, Veterans of World War 1 of the USA.

William F. Edelmuth was elected and installed as head of veterans' group on Sunday at its organizational meeting in the rooms of Joyce-Schrick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last Sunday.

A full slate of officers was chosen to serve with him in the organization, which is devoted to promoting legislation that will grant all veterans a pension of $100 per month at the age of 20.

The pension would be given without restriction as to the amount of funds received from other sources, Commander Edelmuth said.

All veterans of World War 1 were invited to last Sunday's meeting to become charter members.

Commander Edelmuth was mayor of Kingston from 1942 through 1947.

Other officers chosen to serve with him in Ulster Barracks, which is applying for a charter to national headquarters of VFW1, USA, are:

James P. Mason, senior vice commander; Michael Bruno, junior vice commander; Edward E. McBroome, quartermaster; Harry C. Gray, chaplain; Edward Osterhout, Gustave Ribstein and Charles B. Baer, trustees. Two other officers are vacant, judge advocate and sergeant-at-arms.

Commander Edelmuth is a navy veteran of World War 1. He is a member of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, Ulster County Votive 40 & 8, and St. Ignatius Loyola Post, Catholic War Veterans.

Installation was conducted by representatives of the Department of New York, including Clarence J. Dobert, deputy chief of staff, who was instrumental in promoting interest in the formation of Ulster Barracks.

Quarters Ransacked
Washington, March 26 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said today its offices were ransacked during the night and "files were pulled open and disturbed."

Police were called in to help check whether anything was missing. The headquarters are located on the second floor of the office building at 1001 Connecticut avenue in downtown Washington.

Samuel C. Brightman, director of public affairs for the committee, said files in the library and Chairman Paul M. Butler's office were opened and papers strewn about.

"It apparently wasn't vandalism," Brightman said. "The assumption would be that they were after something. Just what is a little baffling to me."

He added "there doesn't seem to be a great deal missing."

School Consolidation Explained

Schools in Kingston Sector Face Handling Big Increases

(Note—this is the fourth in a series of articles on the proposed Greater Kingston Area Consolidation written by Norman Hammond of Lake Katrine and edited by four others on a committee interested in presenting an explanation about linking rural districts to the city school system.)

The number of school-age children in our state is increasing every year due to the overall increase in population and to the large number of children born in the early years after World War 2. In addition to this general increase which school districts everywhere face, we in and around Kingston face a great increase in the number of children in our schools due to the movement of new people to this area. The coming of major industry, along with the small businesses which flourish during a growth period of this sort, brought to our neighborhoods many young families with children of school and pre-school age.

Most Classes Crowded

At this time we have approximately 6,200 children attending our schools from kindergarten through the sixth grade. Several new schools and school-additions have been built recently, and yet most of our classrooms are crowded. If all of the small standard schools in the area included within the proposed consolidation were closed, we would then have classrooms for only about 4,800 elementary students. In order for all of our children to have adequate facilities, it will be necessary to construct additional rooms to house 1,400 pupils. Unfortunately, those districts now most affected by inadequate schools are the districts which can least afford to pay for new ones. If the proposed consolidation becomes a fact, it will be possible to build additions to the modern schools which now exist to house these 1,400 pupils. The necessary additions will cost much less than the construction necessary to build a modern school in each small district.

Additions, Not Practical

Since it is not authorized by the commissioner, nor is it financially practical, for any district to construct additional facilities to accommodate students who are not resident within the district, it will be impossible to provide additions to the existing modern schools for the purpose of accommodating all elementary children of this area unless consolidation is adopted.

The next article will discuss the need to maintain and increase the present excellent program offered by Kingston High School.

Director Leaves Italy

Rome, March 26 (P)—John Huston, Hollywood director, left Italy today. He quit his connection with "Farewell to Arms," the Ernest Hemingway opus that is being filmed once again in the Italian mountains. Huston walked out on the film last week, but neither he nor producer David O. Selznick gave any explanation on just what was the reason for the rift. In Rome, Huston said it was not caused by any quarrel with Selznick's actress wife, Jennifer Jones, who stars in the picture.

AFRICA IMPORTS FROM ALABAMA—Inspired by the success of the Negro bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., Negro workers in Johannesburg, South Africa, carry on their own boycott against local bus companies. It started out as a protest against increased fares, but now, as it drags into its third month, the boycott has taken on social and political importance. Typical is the scene above, where many kinds of transportation—including walking—are used.

Mid-Week Lenten Services

First Baptist

The third in a series of six special Lenten fellowship services will be held Thursday, March 28, at 6:30 p. m. at First Baptist Church, Albany avenue at Broadway, the Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor, has announced.

Guest preacher at the service, following the fellowship meal at 6:30 p. m., will be the Rev. Herbert C. Schmalzriedt Jr., pastor of Hurley Reformed Church.

Miss Lucinda Healy and Norman Bowen will be in charge of devotions while Henry Peyer will be the soloist. Mrs. David E. Smith will offer a violin solo.

The children's hour will be in charge of Mrs. Vernon Hull and Miss Carolyn Hull during which time the film strip, "House of the Wren," will be shown. Members of Homemakers No. 1 will be hostesses at the dinner preceding the service.

St. Paul's Church

The fourth in a series of mid-week Lenten services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 355 Hasbrouck avenue between Foxhall and East Chester streets, will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p. m.

The Rev. Olney E. Cook, pastor of the church, will speak on "The Glory of the Cross." The choir will sing a special arrangement of the Lenten hymn "Alas and Did My Saviour Bleed." At Singers' time, the selections used will be "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," a hymn not in the hymnal but a very popular number, and "The Old Rugged Cross" which is a favorite of all.

Following the service, there will be choir rehearsal for all members.

All are welcome to these Lenten services of worship and inspiration.

Redeemer Church

The third in the series of mid-week Lenten services will be held at 7:30 Wednesday at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets.

Continuing his discussion of "Great Keystones of the Christian Faith," the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will present a meditation on the subject, "Redemption—What Did Christ Do for Me?" Pastor Gaise has indicated that this presentation will continue the pattern of the past weeks in bringing the great truths of Christian faith into focus upon the current life situations of people.

"The Cross, Our True and Only Hope" by Penick and "We Thank Thee, Lord Jesus, for Thy Redemptive Death" by Bach will be played by Mrs. Lester Decker as organ works and the senior choir under the direction of Leonard Stine will sing a Lenten anthem.

The account of the redemptive act of Christ will be read from the Gospels and special prayers will be provided for congregational participation. Traditional Lenten hymns will be sung by the congregation. Visitors are welcome to participate in this service of worship.

The senior choir will rehearse at the close of the service.

Comforter Church

The Reformed Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop place, will hold its fourth mid-week Lenten service Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. James Blane, pastor of the Flatbush Reformed Church, will be the guest preacher on the topic "Sanctified for the Street." The choir will have as its special music for the evening a duet "Forever With the Lord" by Gounod. The duet part will be sung by Mrs. Eugene Kolts, soprano and Mrs. George Aird, alto.

The organist, Miss Gloria Smith, will have as her special music "Now the Day is Over" by Stults and "Chorus in D Major" by Driscoll.

The public is cordially invited to these weekly Lenten services which have featured guest ministers from neighboring churches. Following the evening service, the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Brown, will hold its weekly rehearsal.

Trinity Lutheran

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. the fourth midweek Lenten service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held.

The familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part 4 of the History of the Passion of our Lord will be read. The pastor, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, DD, will preach the fourth of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, "New Bridges to the Cross." His topic will be "There Are Always Two Ways!"

As has been the custom in the past years, there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten litany sung by the senior choir.

The following musical program has been arranged by Donald Romme, MA, minister of music, and Howard Houghtaling, organist: Prelude, "Prelude and Fugue in F," Seth Bingham; Quartet, "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross," William Doane.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service. The senior choir will hold its regular rehearsal immediately after the church service.

Clinton Methodist

"To the Disheartened," is the title of the meditation to be presented by the Rev. Dr. Clyde Herbert Snell at the fourth mid-week service at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton avenue, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

This sermon, presented in the series entitled, "This Has Helped Me," was written by Dr. G. H. Morrison of Scotland. It is a message to those who are baffled and discouraged in life.

The music for these services is in charge of Mrs. Harold Francis. The soloist will be Mrs. Keron O'Neil. She will sing, "Come Ye Disconsolate," by Moore.

The service will be held in the sanctuary of the Clinton Avenue Church and the public is cordially invited.

Immanuel Lutheran

"Herod, the Curious," will be the theme of the Rev. Martin Dienst's sermon for the fourth mid-week Lenten service Wednesday evening, March 27. The Rev. Mr. Dienst, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, is basing his topic on Luke 23:8-11, a most unusual story of only three verses.

Attendances thus far for the first three mid-week Lenten services show a substantial increase over the corresponding weeks of a year ago.

The public is cordially invited to these Lenten meditations as well as all other divine services at Immanuel.

Weleetka, Okla. (P)—The Weleetka American, a weekly newspaper, believes that "names is news." In one edition published in this town of 1,500, there were 1,133 names printed, virtually all local citizens.

This year, about 150,000 Americans will be saved from cancer.

Winds Peril Shipping

Istanbul, Turkey, March 26 (P)—A bitter north wind whipped the Black Sea and Sea of Marmara today, driving passenger ships to shelter and upsetting small craft. The 20-ton motorship Karamustafa sank in the Marmara with the loss of five crew members.

Germans Like Fonda

Hamburg, Germany, March 26 (P)—West German Film critics today named American movie star Henry Fonda the outstanding actor in a foreign film in 1956. Fonda was picked for his performance in "War and Peace." Italian actress Anna Magani was named the best actress for her role in "The Rose Tattbo." "The Red Balloon," produced in France, was selected as the best foreign film and "The Lady Killers," made in Britain, as the best foreign comedy.

Amateur Radio Display Ready for Lions Exposition

Many facets of the hobby of amateur radio will be displayed by the Mike and Key Club at the annual Kingston Lions Club Exposition April 2-6 in the state armory.

The appearance of the "hobby society" should be "mutually beneficial, providing another point of show interest for the Lions Club and also giving the hams an opportunity to reveal the technique of their hobby to the public." Dr. Stephen T. McGrath, Lion liaison, told The Freeman.

The Exposition will mark the first time the radio club has used its new call letters "K2YU." The club will display various types of receivers, transmitters and accessories, both for fixed and mobile operation.

To Show Devices

Several testing devices will be demonstrated, among them the modulated oscilloscope which graphically depicts the sound waves caused by the spoken voice. In addition, many other items of pertinent interest will be available, including information as to study courses available to those interested in acquiring licensure by the Federal Communications Commission.

Actual radio operation will be undertaken on amateur frequencies showing the techniques of "working dx" or distant stations, round-table "rag-chews" and traffic nets. In the latter instance messages will be received from the attending public to be transmitted to any point in the free world.

John Schmitz of IBM is president of the Mike and Key Club. The booth arrangement committee consists of William Smith of Hercules, Lowell Popp of IBM and John Heitzman of Central Hudson.

SIGNS OR SCENERY

Congress is now concerned with the question whether some limit should be placed on the erection of billboards along the vast new interstate highway network. It is a matter that concerns not only those who want to put up billboards, but those who will have to look at them if they are put up—in short, all of us.

The administration proposes withholding some federal highway money from states which refuse to comply with rather stringent curbs on the construction of billboards. This, and almost any other proposal for signboard restrictions, brings down the wrath of the outdoor advertising industry and some other groups which would profit by having unrestricted access to all that potential advertising space.

Proponents of a restrictive code are mostly those who assert that a string of billboards would be unsightly. It could be argued persuasively that, since billboards are a long-established part of the American scene, those who want them along the new highways should be allowed to have them. That may be, but there is no getting around the fact that if there is no restriction on billboards they will clutter many miles of the 41,000-mile system. The argument pretty much boils down to whether we want to see signs or scenery.

A University of Chicago sociologist has come up with the statement that men are no longer the heads of the house. Any day now some scientific chap will come up with the equally startling news that water is wet.

A WHIR OF WINGS

A great naturalist tells us that spring advances northward across the face of America at the rate of about 15 miles per day. It begins at the tip of Florida very early in the year, and by April there are unmistakable signs of it even in the northernmost tier of states.

Numerous other statistical notations may be made about spring. Scientists tell us, for example, that a few days past mid-March the axis of the earth is at right angles to the direction of the sun, and that we then have the vernal equinox. This year the magic day was March 20, and we are thus technically enjoying spring.

But anyone with blood in his veins, however thinned by the travails of winter, knows that spring rises above the merely statistical. The scientific explanation about equinoxes accounts for spring no more than a rain drop accounts for the Mississippi river.

To say that spring moves northward at 15 miles a day may be scientifically accurate. But spring does not plod in the way these figures suggest. Spring moves lightly and unpredictably, darting in and out, advancing and retreating, before it comes to stay. No, spring does not trudge north like some placid cow goaded by statistics. Spring is an ebullient creature that arrives in a whirl of golden wings.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell predicts that during the next eight years industry will have to hire more women and elderly persons whose services will be needed to fill jobs. He also might reasonably predict that in doing so industry will get some capable help that might otherwise have gone to waste.

WORDS OF PEACE

The world over, no matter what religion may prevail in different places, Pope Pius XII is recognized as a dedicated, highly able leader of his own spiritual cause, and as a moral man wedded to peace for all mankind.

Therefore it will not be taken lightly anywhere that he has, in a meeting with Vice President Nixon, warmly praised President Eisenhower for his earnest quest for peace.

The Pope's words seemed carefully chosen. He spoke of the President's "simple, informal, unfeigned expression of goodwill as a key instrument for the settlement of international disputes."

The words deserve to be heard around

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
WE PAY RANSOM

How much is an American life worth? Up to March, 1952, the United States remitted nearly $800,000 for the purpose of obtaining the departure from Red China of American citizens, representatives of American business firms and missionary organizations. Since March, 1952, the United States has authorized the further payment of $1,530,000 for remittance to Red China for the same purpose.

Thus, the United States has authorized the payment of approximately $2,330,000 to Red China as ransom money to free Americans from that country. The Red Chinese do not call it ransom money but collect it on various pretexts which would not be tolerated elsewhere.

The first payment so shocked some Americans that this colloquy occurred in the United States Senate on March 25, 1952:

"Mr. Ferguson. Does not the payment of these sums totaling $800,000, amount to trading with the enemy?"

"Mr. Knowland. There can be no question that it is trading with the enemy. It represents blackmail and extortion practiced by the Chinese Communists."

"Mr. Ferguson. This situation does not offer very much from the incident in Hungary, to whom we paid $120,000 to have certain American fliers released from jail after they had been placed in jail. In this case the threat is to place certain persons in jail unless the payment is made."

"Mr. Knowland. That is correct. We paid the money from the United States Treasury. In this case we permit certain persons to pay with American funds of their own."

"Mr. Knowland. That is correct. Approximately $800,000 has been paid, and apparently only four have been released, so the price of blackmail is steadily increasing."

That all this is ransom money is demonstrably proven by a statement issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, on April 17, 1952, the first paragraph of which reads:

"American citizens whose representatives are detained in Communist China will be licensed under the Foreign Assets Control Regulations to pay claims against their Chinese agencies only on the basis of arrangements assuring that the interested concern's representatives are safely released to an area outside Communist China, such as Hong Kong, before the funds are sent into China."

This is a policy which is undoubtedly still being pursued, because as of March 7, 1957, I find no indication of a change. The policy is that the Government of the United States will permit the payment of ransom money to rescue Americans detained by Red China under one pretext or another. How many are detained is not known precisely; the figures given for civilians are nine, but about 450 military personnel have been unaccounted for and are presumed lost in action, although no one knows for sure. Are they all lost or are some held as hostages for further ransom?

This is a recital of facts without comment as to the morality of paying ransom or permitting such payment. The alternative is to send American troops into the country to free American hostages. When a country becomes addicted to pacifism, anything could happen to it. The Red Chinese strengthen themselves with their own people by humiliating the "white" nations who for a little more than a century exerted power over them. That power Dr. Sun Yat-sen called semi-colonialism. To hold an American for ransom is to prove American weakness and Chinese superiority. Certainly to pay ransom money is cowardly. The Red Chinese hope that they will establish it as a fact that the "white" peoples are cowardly.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
NERVOUSNESS AND FATIGUE

Nervousness has been defined as "a state of restlessness, mentally or bodily, or both." Fatigue is "subjective (pertaining to the individual's feelings) arising from a variety of conditions, not always accompanied by an actual decrease in the body's capacity for work." Not all patients with fatigue are nervous and vice versa, but the two symptoms frequently occur together.

While the patient may complain that he is easily upset, often he cannot put into words what he means by feeling "nervous." To him it is an unpleasant, sometimes frightening, experience, making it difficult to work or concentrate and causing him to feel anxious or apprehensive. Often he will be restless, fidgety, and easily startled. His face may reflect irritability, worry, or bewilderment. He may display mannerisms, nail-biting or twitching of the muscles of the face.

In fatigue, the patient usually reports a disinclination and partial inability to work or even play, and may complain of lack of interest and ambition. His tiredness may come on after little or no exertion. Some patients, even after a full night's sleep, feel more tired on waking than later in the day.

Like nervousness, susceptibility to fatigue depends upon the degree of stability (steadfastness or firmness) and the make-up of the whole person. The normal body possesses a comfortable margin of reserve strength and develops symptoms of fatigue only after unusually prolonged exertion. Rarely does the fatigability seen in nervous patients result from actual bodily exhaustion. In normal fatigue, rest alone restores the feeling of well-being and capacity for work.

Emotional conflicts often produce fatigability and nervousness. On the other hand, the physical causes causing fatigability may cause nervousness. Therefore, the first problem in diagnosis of nervousness and fatigue is to determine which symptom appeared first. If nervousness clearly appeared before fatigue, the cause probably is psychogenic; if fatigability appeared first, tuberculosis, brucellosis, malaria, or other chronic conditions such as dietary deficiencies must be looked for. Artificial premature menopause nearly always produces nervousness and many of these women never fully regain their former stability and capacity for work.

Mental and emotional difficulties are responsible for nervousness and fatigability in the majority of patients. In general, lack of specific goals or plans for the future, and lack of a sense of belonging to a social or family group, can be basic sources. Symptoms may arise only in special situations. For example, some people will be free of nervous symptoms while on vacation; others may have symptoms only when at home, or whenever another person, such as an "in-law," is in the home. On the other hand, the patient may be nervous in almost all situations. The symptoms in such instances are thought to be due to their response to a situation which they resist unconsciously.

"This Far and No Farther"—Egypt

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington, (NEA) — House defeat of this year's bills to aid corn growers leaves the Eisenhower administration with two principal farm proposals before Congress.

One is drought relief, on which President Eisenhower has sent a special message to Congress.

Committee hearings on his proposals are just beginning, with Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse presenting the program.

It includes such things as: deferred grazing on drought-stricken acreage; extended authority to make federal relief loans to drought-stricken farmers and states sharing up to 25 per cent of federal costs on drought relief.

This last proposal will probably be so bitterly opposed by the states that its acceptance by Congress is doubtful. Some states claim the drought has so impoverished them they will be unable to share relief costs. Most of the states would require new laws to authorize such cost-sharing, and it is unlikely they can be pushed through this year.

Recent reports of heavy snows and good rains in the southwest indicate some natural drought relief in sight. Continued wet weather might ease up demands for the legislation this year.

THE SECOND MAJOR administration proposal for farm aid is a billion-dollar, one-year extension of the law which authorizes export sales of U. S. farm surpluses at world market prices for foreign currencies or for barter.

This called Law 480 program, as it's called, has been most successful in reducing surpluses. But debate on extension of the act beyond June 30 will be fuzged up this year by negotiations now going on with Poland for farm surplus sales and credits. Consequently, there is no telling what sort of amendments may be tacked on to any renewal.

If these two proposals seem like not much of a farm program for this year, that's the way the administration planned it. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson admitted to a Senate committee there were some questions about the ultimate wisdom of all farm legislation now on the books. But there is a feeling that it threatens stability to do a major overhaul on farm programs every year.

IN THE 1954 FARM BILL, the administration feels that great strides forward were made in obtaining more flexibility on farm price supports.

Next came the disposal of surplus legislation. And last year the soil bank was approved after a battle.

These three measures, it is claimed, have enabled U. S. farmers to turn the corner from the nearly 20 million acres have been signed up under the 1957 soil bank acreage reserve. It is hoped this will greatly reduce production and surpluses.

If the soil bank does this way, and with an even break on weather, it is hoped that U. S. farm surpluses will be reduced to the manageable size of normal carryovers within three years—or before the end of the second Eisenhower administration.

A YEAR AGO, farm prices were falling and farm incomes were way down. Today, says Benson, farm prices are 5 per cent above the low of December, 1955. And net farm income last year was 4 per cent above 1955 totals.

There are still some administrative orders which Benson might issue to raise farm price supports. He is limited by law from lowering price supports on almost everything except dairy products and feed grains. But he has not used all his discretionary authority for raises.

He could, for instance, increase support prices on corn raised on land not in compliance with existing quota restrictions. But he has announced he will take no action until this year's crop is all planted.

Increased support now would only encourage farmers to plant more corn.

One thing noticed during House debate on the corn bill this year was that many congressmen questioned the wisdom of continuous, huge outlays of tax money for farm aid.

This criticism did not come only from city district congressmen. It is believed this could mark the beginning of an important shift of sentiment away from multi-billion-dollar farm subsidies.

Liquidity, Boiler Room?

Wall Street Publication Defines Exchange Jargon

BY SAM DAWSON

New York, March 26 (AP)—Does the jargon of the stock market throw you? If you're one of those who wonder what formula investing, liquidity or thin market means, you wouldn't know if you're becoming involved in a boiler room or a bucket shop, who can't tell a specialist from a professional, the New York Stock Exchange wants to help you.

240 Definitions

It's out today with definitions of 240 terms used on Wall Street in New York; LaSalle Street in Chicago and Montgomery Street in San Francisco. Many of them have probably been beyond the understanding of most citizens.

The stock exchange declares that some 30 million Americans show an interest in learning more about stock investments, and that about half a million of them become new investors each year. So it thinks if people knew what they were talking about, or wondering about, it might help.

Investment Language
To that end the exchange is publishing a glossary of terms called "The Language of Investing."

A convertible in Wall street isn't an auto. According to the glossary it's "a bond, debenture or preferred share which may be exchanged by the owner for common stock or another security, usually of the same company, in accordance with the terms of the issue."

Locked in is defined thus: "An investor is said to be locked in when he has a profit on a security he owns but does not sell because his profit would immediately become subject to the capital gains tax."

Formula investing is "An investment technique. One formula calls for the shifting of funds from common shares to preferred shares or bonds as the market, on average, rises above a certain predetermined point—and the return of funds to common share investments as the market average declines."

'Thin Market'

A thin market is one "in which there are comparatively few bids

Constitution Circumvention Seen as Dangerous Doctrine

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 26 — The end seems to justify the means—and if the Constitution stands in the way, it must be circumvented.

This is a dangerous doctrine in a democracy and one that the American people will resent to the utmost. But it comes, in effect, from the chairman of the Senate subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, Sen. Thomas Hennings, of Missouri. Democratic, who, though denying any intention to abandon jury trial in America, says frankly that, because Southern juries will not convict in "civil rights" cases, some way has to be found to get around them.

In a formal memorandum to the members of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, Mr. Hennings says:

"We know that, regardless of the facts, juries in some such cases are not likely to convict. An alternative is the grant of injunctive relief to the United States."

This means "government by injunction." It is something that the labor unions successfully fought until they got relief from Congress in the Norris-La Guardia anti-injunction law. But this is a special privilege granted only to individuals in labor disputes. Now it is intended to punish without jury trial any citizens who become involved in any way in disputes over "civil rights."

This, of course, would result because the suits in "civil rights" cases would be prosecuted in the name of the "United States," and such a device automatically bars any jury trial.

Frankly Admits It

The Missouri senator frankly admits this. In fact, his candor is to be commended, for he takes issue with Assistant Attorney General Olney of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice, who, on March 15, issued a statement arguing that the defendants in the Clinton, Tenn., case had not been deprived of a jury trial. Mr. Olney contended that, because in the middle of the proceedings the "United States" had been made a party to the suit, this was a "technical" matter and it didn't mean jury trial had been forfeited. Here is what the Assistant Attorney General said:

"The right to a jury trial is not a matter of discretion to be granted or withheld by the Department of Justice or by the court and could not in any case be defeated by the substitution, for technical reasons, of the name of the United States on the contempt citation."

But the memorandum by Senator Hennings, which he says is supported by an exhaustive analysis made by the chief counsel of the Senate subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, takes the opposite view. Mr. Hennings, after giving a list of twenty-eight Federal statutes in which injunctions may be issued, says: "As outlined above, with one exception (labor disputes cases under the Norris-La Guardia Act), there is no right to trial by jury in cases for criminal contempt of court for violations of injunctions, under these statutes, when the United States is a party to the case."

Trial Without Jury

The history of this type of case under Federal injunctions shows that, where contempt is committed in the presence of the court or where the principal who is ordered to obey an injunction disobeys it, he may be hauled into court and tried and punished without a jury trial.

In the Clinton, Tenn., case, however, the complainants were private individuals who said that eighteen defendants had conspired to violate the Federal injunction. These alleged acts were committed outside the court room. The defendants were not principals in the dispute. The school board itself had complied with the Federal injunction ordering the end of segregation. Then, all of a sudden, the Department of Justice on Feb. 25 last asked the court to change the name of the case and insert the name "United States" as the complaining party. This automatically bars a jury trial because the law specifically says so.

Entitled to Know

Surely the American people are entitled to know what's going on here and what subterfuges are being used at Clinton. For, if what happened in the Clinton case is valid—in fact, the Federal judge promptly approved the change in the name of the case—then "civil rights" legislation by the Senate or the House isn't really necessary after all. If, indeed, "the end justifies the means," the Department of Justice, whether authorized or not by "civil rights" legislation, can change the name of any case and deprive the defendants of a jury trial in criminal contempt cases. There need be no explanation given except "technical reasons," though everyone will know that it's really an effort to get around the fact that Southern juries might not bring in convictions in "civil rights" cases.

A constitutional amendment is the logical way to deal with the whole problem. If two-thirds of both houses of Congress and three-fourths of the state want to take away or limit further the right of trial by jury, then the Constitution and law will order it done—and such orders will be obeyed.

Huks Renew Raids

Manila, March 26 (AP)—Twenty Communist Huk rebels raided a village north of Manila last night in the first major action of this year and the first outbreak since President Ramon Magasaysay died in a plane crash March 17. The armed raiders, who were said to be wearing Philippine army fatigue uniforms, shot and wounded a guard and ransacked two homes at San Clemente, in Tarlac Province. The Philippine army was alerted against a possible outbreak of additional violence.

Social Security Benefits Listed

George J. Johnson, manager of district office Social Security Administration in Kingston, submits the following article on provisions of the law:

Prior to the year 1955, any wage earners receiving social security benefits was required to limit his earnings on a monthly basis. Each recipient was allowed to earn no more than $75 a month. The 1954 amendments put the earnings limitation on a yearly basis beginning with 1955. Hence, any recipient of social security benefits, employed or self-employed, is now allowed to earn $1,200 each year.

He may earn the $1,200 in a few months or he can spread the earnings over the entire 12 months. It is immaterial how much each person earns in any one month—just as long as the earnings for the 12 months of the year do not exceed $1,200.

In general, for each $80 over the $1,200 (or a portion of $80) a person under age 72, loses one month's check. Therefore, if a person is receiving social security benefits, it is important that he notify the social security office as soon as he knows that his yearly earnings will be more than $1,200. Do not wait to notify the office until more than $1,200 is earned.

As an example: Ellen, a retired secretary, filed a claim for social security benefits in January 1956. She indicated that she would work for no more than $1,200 in that year. However, in March 1956 she had an opportunity to earn more money in a job that would last all year. She notified the district office that she would earn over $1,200. Her March 1956 check was the last one issued. Her earnings at the end of the year were $1,679.00. This meant she was eligible for six checks in that year. Since she had received only three checks, a lump-sum covering three months benefits was promptly forwarded to her by the Social Security Administration.

If she had not reported when she did, it is possible that she would have suffered a loss of benefits for several months in 1957.

No matter how much Ellen earns in a year, however, she will get a benefit check for any month in which she neither earns wages of more than $80.00 nor renders substantial services in self-employment.

The Kingston, N. Y., district office of the Social Security Administration is located in the Empire Market Building, 61 Albany avenue and services all of Sullivan and Ulster counties.

Estate Note

The sale of used homes is almost 35 per cent ahead of last year, a survey by the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Assn. reveals. The association says that two existing houses are sold for every new home put on the market. Families, it says, like used homes that are near places of employment and built-up communities with schools, parks, finished streets and sidewalks.

20 Area Children Attend Purim Party

Woodstock, March 25—Twenty children of Jewish families from Woodstock and West Hurley celebrated the festival of Purim, the most joyous of Hebrew holidays, at a party last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Moscovitz, of lower Byrdcliffe road, Woodstock.

The children, who played, sang holiday games and songs, included: David Barth, Barbara Cohn, Danny and Andy Davidson, Paul and Martin Greenberg, Sue Gurland, Leslie Evelyn and Shari Kalish, Debbie and Merrie

Kramer, Debbie and Eve Moscovitz, Joseph and Debbie Leshen, Lynn and Ellen Schwarz, Phyllis and Stephen Wechter.

Mr. and Mrs. Moscovitz entertained many of the children's parents throughout the day. An anonymous donation of $10 was again received this year which contributed toward the gifts for the children and refreshments, including "hamantaschen," the traditional Purim triangle-shaped cakes. Other homemade delicacies were donated by parents.

Label Plants

It is a good idea to mark garden items with labels so you will know what is growing when it starts up. You may protect stakes and labels with shellac.

Three-quarters of the atmosphere consists of nitrogen, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

I'm really hopping -- to keep up with the growing Mid-Hudson Valley!

In 1956 my services to industry increased 12%!
Industry contracted for over 23 million dollars worth of new plant facilities. This industrial expansion will ultimately result in 6,600 new jobs for the area.

About 3,800 new families started taking electric service last year -- an increase of 4%.

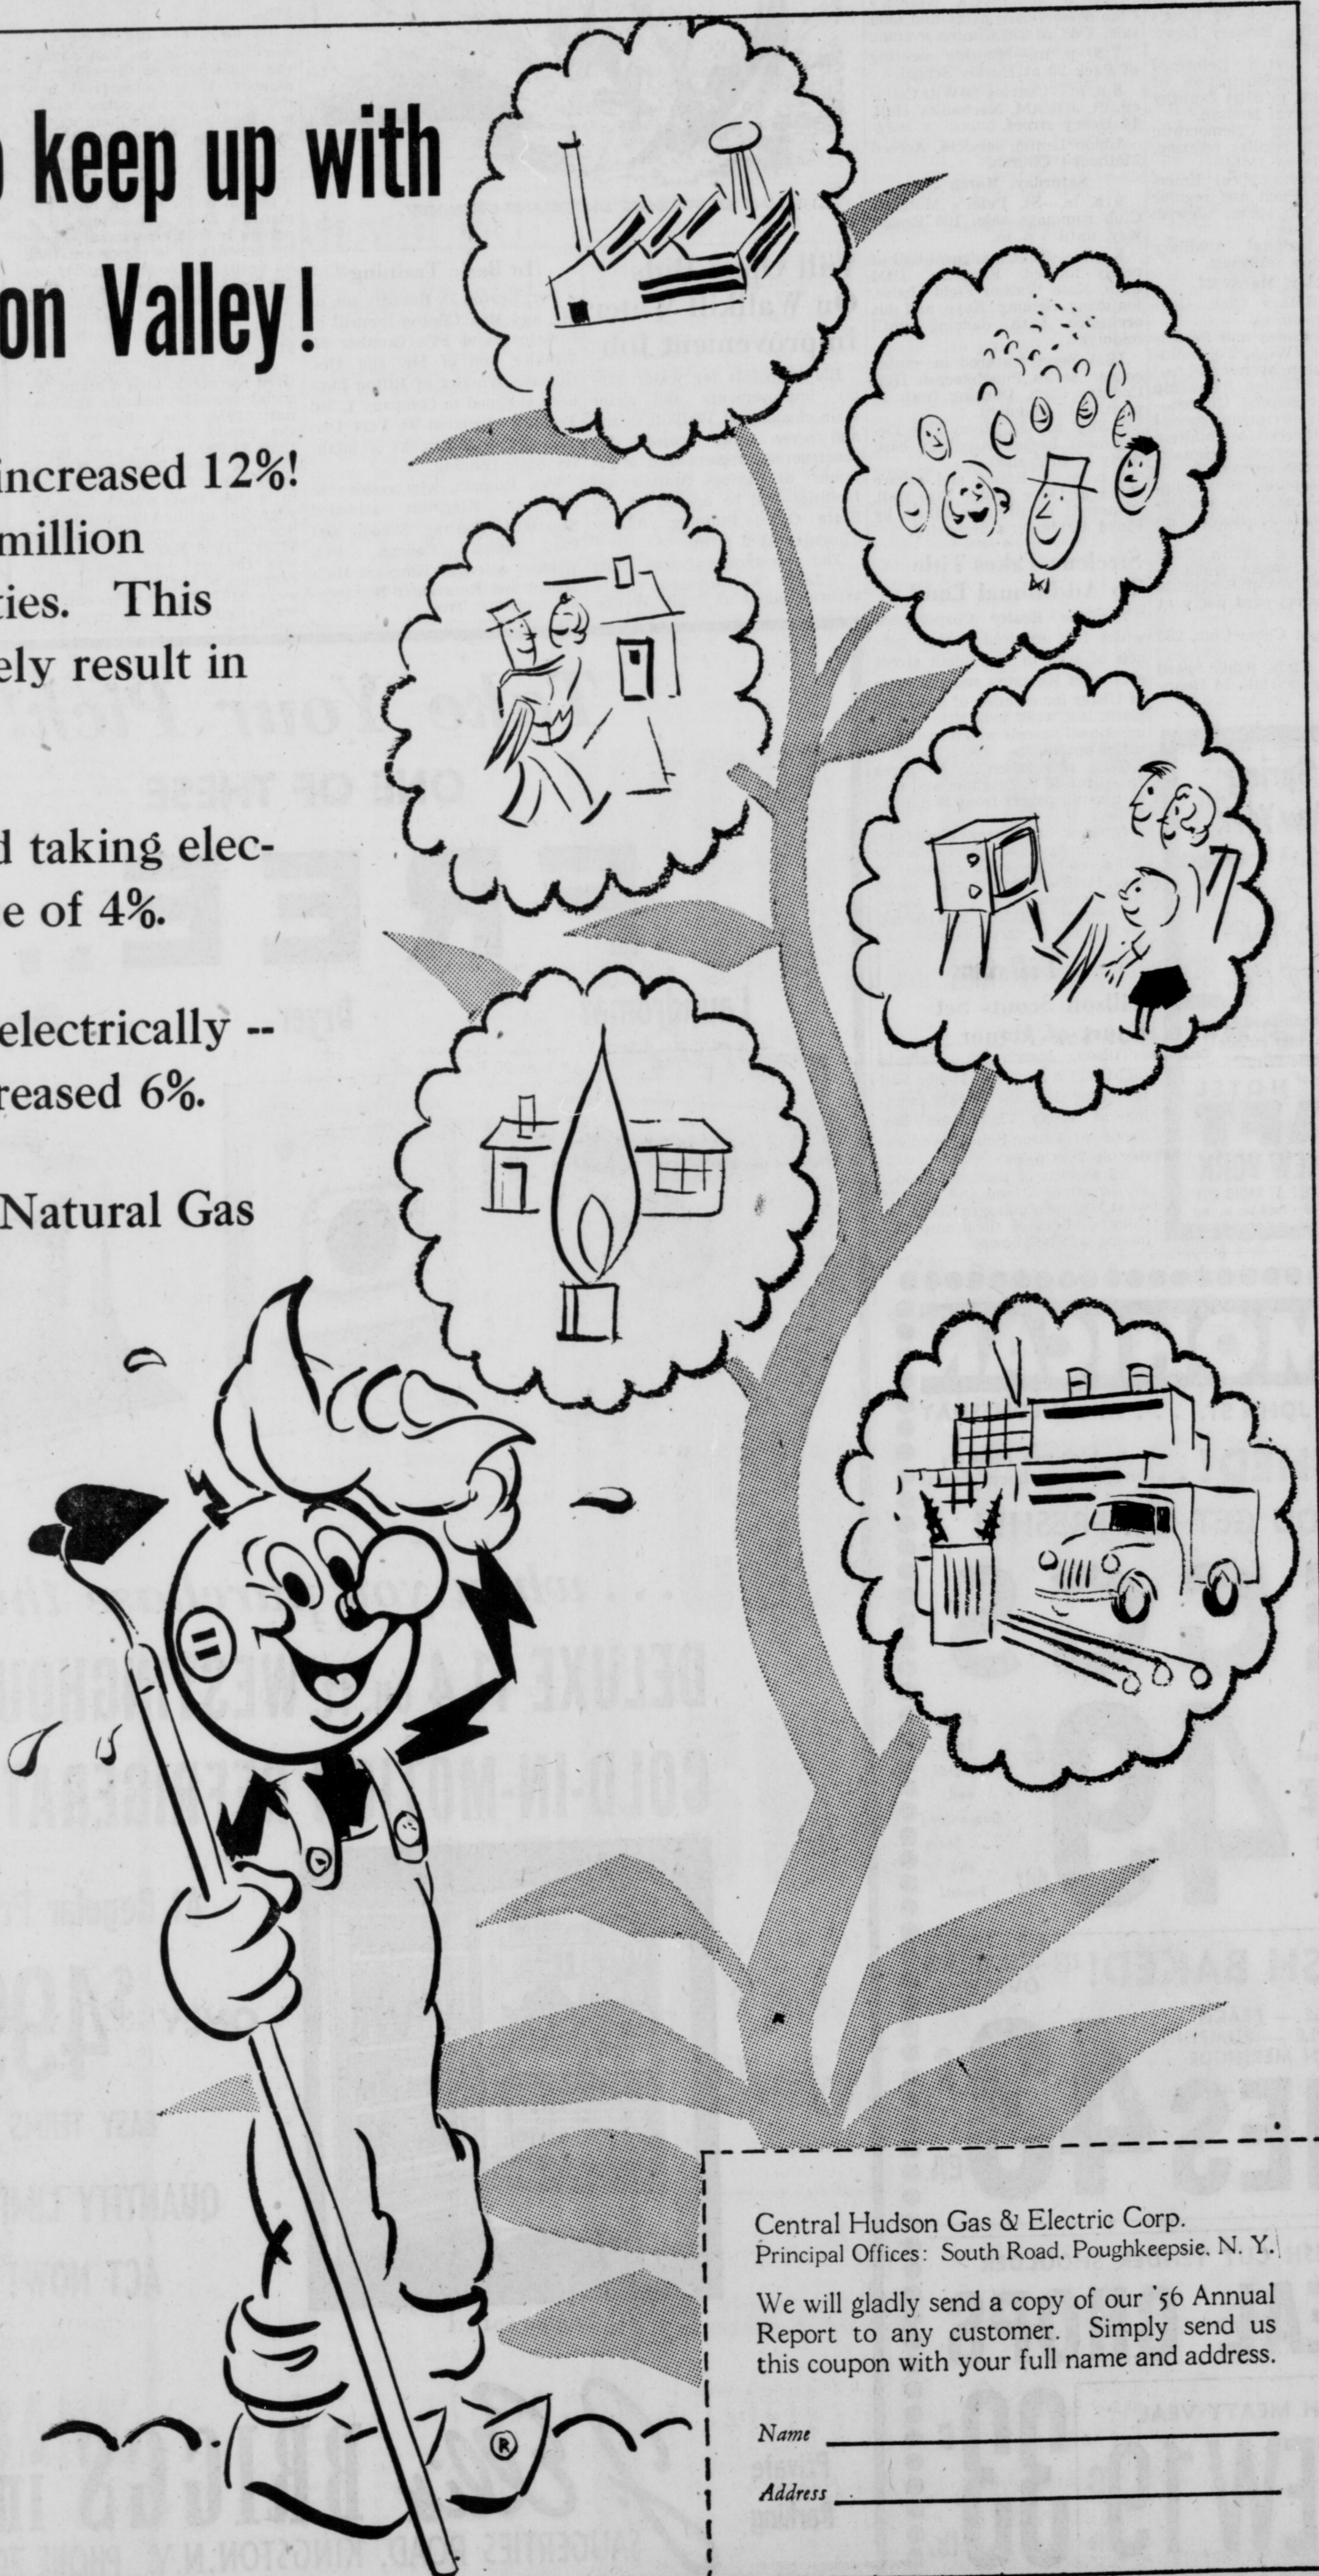

Most families are living better -- electrically -- the average usage per family increased 6%.

1059 additional homes installed Natural Gas heat last year.

Yes, the Mid-Hudson Valley is growing by leaps and bounds! And that growth has really kept me hopping! Last year I spent over seven million dollars on new facilities just to be sure that you will have all the gas and electricity you need right when you need it! And in 1957 I'll have to spend more than fifteen million to assure continued top-notch service for you in your home and at your job.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

A short time ago there was made mention of the hand-sweepers of Kingston who came around with their big brooms and carts and the store keepers used to help them by sweeping their sidewalks into little heaps in the gutter.

A number of readers told me that only the other day they saw the streets of Rondout being swept like olden times. According to some old timers I am told that our streets of Kingston were swept the year around, even in winter when the weather was nice.

Looking over some old Kingston postal cards and photos of streets I notice that the streets are nice and clean. Whatever I cannot remember in this column folks as a rule tell me in a day or so. It is true the big mechanical sweeper is very efficient when it comes along a street but if there are cars parked along the curb, which have every right to be there, the sweeper has to swing way out and take whatever he can get which often leaves part of the curbs full of refuse.

The old fashioned broom in the hands of a good sweeper can get around most anywhere and so cannot be entirely replaced by the modern mechanical sweeper. I am not quite sure what interest each bank pays today on savings account, whatever it is, is good of course. Going back to the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, January 2nd, 1920 I see that the Rondout Savings Bank at 20 Ferry St. was paying 4 per cent. At the time they had $4,500,000 deposits and were open from 10 to 3 p. m. and Saturday mornings from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Rondout Savings Bank has been a friendly bank for years and now is the only bank staying in Rondout.

It is a busy bank with all windows usually taken up with depositors or local store keepers coming over for changing money or other services. I like the cozy atmosphere and privacy because of the circular construction of the teller windows. I am not quite sold on the idea of the 'let's go modern' banks with their glaring lights, air-conditioning blowing down on you and low straight counters which give no privacy. If there is any one place one wants to think clearly and peacefully, it is in a bank.

Some old boatmen were talking about the Hudson river and creek. They feel that some day Rondout will again come into its own. "When atomic energy will be perfected and released for industrial and commercial use, tractor trailers will be able to be sent up on large flat barges on the wide Hudson river and arrive at their destination cheaper and faster, without any traffic delays.

For years now, in New York harbor, many loaded freight-cars have been shuttled back and forth between various piers for loading and unloading on mammoth barges, so there is no reason, why in the near future our Hudson river cannot be used as a waterway for barges carrying tractor-trailers.

If such a day does come, and no doubt will, if atomic energy can be used for such a purpose the entire lower section of Rondout will again become a very important terminal for freight landings, and cargoes of produce. There is talk now of deepening and widening the Hudson River channel between Newburgh and Albany so that ocean going steamers can make the trip more easily."

Former Vassar President Loses On TV Program

New York, March 26 (AP)—Mrs. Vivienne Nearing lost her new television quiz show crown to a New York man last night on NBC's "Twenty One."

Hank Bloomgarden, 28-year-old administrative consultant in medical research, defeated Mrs. Nearing on a question about island cities. Two weeks ago she had topped Columbia University instructor Charles Van Doren. He had won the largest fortune of any contestant in a single quiz show—$129,000.

Bloomgarden took the crown when Mrs. Nearing, a lawyer, failed to place Santa Cruz de Tenerife in the Canary Islands. Bloomgarden won $10,500 of the $16,000 she had earned. She was left with $3,500. Bloomgarden went on to defeat Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, 76, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., president emeritus of Vassar College, and now has $21,000 to his credit.

Thugs Pose as Blood Donors, Get $130

New York, March 26 (AP)—Three thugs posing as blood donors beat the manager of the Brooklyn Donor Center into unconsciousness yesterday. They robbed him of $130 cash and a $100 wrist watch.

The manager, Michael Marino, 52, had just paid a $5 donation fee to an actual donor, Theodore A. Paulsen, 45, and turned to ask who was next when the trio attacked.

The three also took Paulsen's $5 fee.

Stage Courtesy

Milwaukee (AP)—Arthur Treacher was most accommodating when a group of about 35 women arrived at the Fred Miller theatre ten minutes after the start of the play starring the British born actor. Treacher paused in his lines, stepped into the aisle and helped an usher seat the women. "I suppose it would help you to know what has gone on before," he said on returning to the stage. He began a detailed explanation before pausing. "Let's start the play over again," he said. Then Treacher began the play, "Clut-terbuck," once more.

Happy Times

Four Kinds of Assets Helpful in Retirement

BY BEULAH STOWE

What is the greatest asset a person can have when he reaches retirement? Here are four different answers:

PEOPLE. "My husband didn't leave me much money when he died four years ago," says Mrs. Donald Bridges, 63, "but he left me something far more valuable. He left me some people. He left me three children, eight grandchildren, and a townful of friends. If he had left me rich and lonely, I might have faltered when it came to spending these later years as a widow."

HEALTH. "As long as I have my good health, I will never complain," vows a man of 67. "I have never been sick in my life, and as long as I am strong and healthy I feel I have some security," he explains. "I can walk, garden, work around the house and yard, and hire out my services to mow lawns and trim hedges in the summer."

A REASON FOR BEING: "I'm an inventor," says Mr. Thomas Gavin. "I have been experimenting since I quit working at a daily job, when I was 60. I am a tool and die maker by trade. Now I have a lot of equipment set up in my basement, and I am studying chemistry and reading chemical periodicals to add to my range of possibilities."

"I usually have several experiments going on at once. I like projects with a practical application. Machines, tools, chemicals, and ideas get me out of bed early every morning, and reading about what other men have done keeps me up late every night."

(Few of us can even attempt to "invent," but everyone needs a reason.)

FINANCIAL SECURITY: "I don't want to sound bitter, but there is no substitute for money. Money is always in style. I am grateful every day that I have enough money not to be beholden to anybody. I like the things money can buy; I like the protection it gives against emergencies, and I like the luxury it gives life after 65."—L. H. P.

Here are four assets of retirement, people, health, reason for being, and money.

And may all of you heading toward retirement's dream claim a portion of each blessing for your own.

Q—"My mother is a widow, 66. My father died three years ago. He was a veteran of World War I. My mother has no pension, and my husband and I have been supporting her. Can you tell me if she would be entitled to any sort of payment from the government because of my father's service in the Army?"—R. J. S.

A—Check with the U. S. Veteran's Administration (look in the phone book for the local office) or consult a lawyer. A good lawyer is not so expensive as you might fear. Take your father's service record with you, whichever you consult. It is likely that your mother is entitled to some payment or pension, provided her other sources of income are limited.

Woman Admits She Killed Photographer

Richmond, Ind., March 26 (AP)—A 30-year-old woman admitted today, Sheriff Edward Cordell said, fatally shooting Roy Hirschburg, 64, a nationally known photographer, in front of his downtown studio late last night.

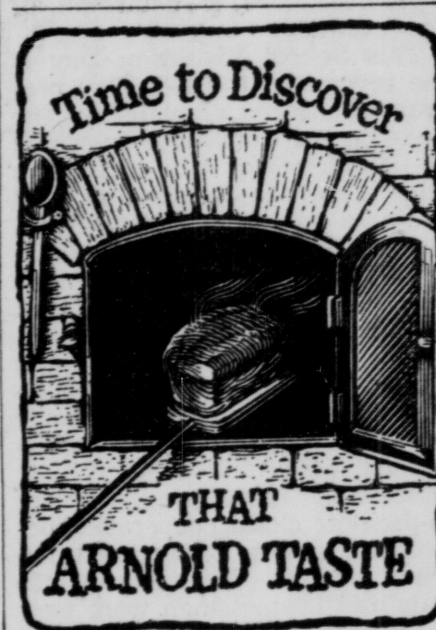

He was a veteran of World War I. My mother has no pension, and my husband and I have been supporting her. Can you tell me if she would be entitled to any sort of payment from the government because of my father's service in the Army?"—R. J. S.

Do you have a systematic savings plan or are you a part time saver

For those of you who have always intended to start a systematic savings plan—but never have done so—HERE IS A NEW PLAN DESIGNED TO ASSIST YOU.

Many of you have made regular monthly payments when buying a car, or for home appliances and you made these monthly payments promptly.

WHY NOT MAKE REGULAR MONTHLY PAYMENTS TO YOURSELF — so that over a period of 1 year, 2 years, or 3 years, you have a substantial nest egg for that down payment on a new home, or for your children's education.

Here is how it can be done

OPEN A SAVE AND INSURE ACCOUNT AT THE RONDOUT NATIONAL BANK

You decide on the amount of your savings goal $500 to $5000. We will lend you this amount, and immediately open a savings account for you in the amount you decide upon. This account earns interest at the rate of 2½% per annum.

You repay the amount deposited in your savings account in easy monthly payments over 12 to 36 months.

Life insurance covers your save and insure loan so that in case of death the entire balance in your account is immediately available to your family.

You need no collateral or co-signers to OBTAIN A SAVE AND INSURE LOAN AT THIS BANK.

WHY NOT DECIDE THAT NOW IS THE TIME TO PLAN FOR THE FUTURE.

Case Put Off Again

A further adjournment was taken Monday evening in the petit larceny charge against three Ellenville firemen who stand charged for the alleged taking of cigarettes and money from a cigarette machine at the Town Tavern, Ellenville, following a fire. Pleas of innocent were entered and the defendants were given until next Monday to secure counsel or go to trial. They were not represented by counsel at the hearing Monday evening before Justice Benjamin Lonsdale. The men accused are Floyd Krom, 27; Herman Krom, 29, and John Wood, 26, volunteer firemen who had been left at the site of the fire as a fire guard. A cigarette machine was seen intact in the kitchen of the tavern following the fire. Next morning it had been broken open and the contents taken. Since the charge has been lodged the men have been suspended from the fire company.

KHS Visitation Day Is April 9

The first Kingston High School Visitation Day sponsored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will be held on April 9. Warren Eckles is chairman of this event.

This School Visitation Day is the reverse of the B-E Day program sponsored annually by the Chamber of Commerce in which all teachers of the Kingston schools spend a day visiting local and area industries and places of business. Representatives of the 28 firms which participated in the B-E Day program will visit the high school on April 9.

This, the first program, will be limited to 60 persons from business and industry. It is possible that the program might be expanded later.

Basically these programs are to promote closer cooperation between business leaders and the school system. Both school officials and businessmen were very enthusiastic about the B-E Day program which prompted the Chamber of Commerce to arrange for the return visit.

Beck Refuses

ply with the subpoena's demand for his records.

Spectators jammed every bit of space in the marble-columned Senate caucus room, scene of many other famous Senate hearings in the past. Hundreds of others queued up outside, hoping for a chance to get in.

Wherever the chance appeared, Beck pulled the name of former Sen. James Duff (R-Pa.) into his replies to committee questions. Repeatedly, Beck told the senators he was acting on advice of Duff, his chief counsel who did not, however, attend the hearing.

In explanation of his position, Beck said at one point:

"When I go to the hospital and hire a doctor I intend to follow that doctor's advice; when I hire a lawyer I intend to follow his advice."

Duff has taken the position that he should not, as a recent former senator, appear before his colleagues in behalf of Beck although advising him outside the hearing. Two members of Duff's law firm were with Beck.

Irritates Senators

Beck's numerous references to Duff seemed to irritate the senators.

At one point, McClellan told Beck: "We're not charging anything against Senator Duff."

And, at another of Beck's references to his advice from Duff, McClellan said in acid tones:

"I believe the record reflects that—that you've said it a number of times."

Beck, when invoking his Constitutional protections, said among other things he had been advised he might be charged with violating the income tax laws.

Unoccupied Home

pany No. 5 dispatched two pieces of fire apparatus.

Fire Chief Lewis Clausi of the East Kingston Fire Department expressed appreciation for the promptness and effectiveness of Ulster County aid.

East Kingston firemen used 2,000 gallons of water and Ulster Hose 1,500 gallons in efforts to stop the progress of the blaze.

Checks Grass Fires

The East Kingston department also had two calls Sunday afternoon to extinguish grass fires.

The first came about 3:30 p. m. to a fire on the IBM property in North Flatbush.

While at the scene another grass fire was reported south of East Kingston on the Devil's Lake road. This one was described as "stubborn." It was burning among trees and heavy undergrowth and took 25 men about an hour and a half to bring it under control.

Firemen used brooms, booster hoses and Indian pumps.

Deputies Tony Alecca and Arthur Smith handled traffic at the scene.

Would Allow Branches

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The Legislature's Republican leaders today placed their stamp of approval on a new bill that would allow savings banks to branch into the suburbs.

The measure was introduced today through the Senate and Assembly Rules Committees and was ticketed for passage before the legislature adjourns late this week. The revised bill would allow savings banks both in New York city and upstate to establish two more branches, except that banks in the ninth banking district would be permitted only one more branch.

Kingston Rotary will observe "rural-urban night" Wednesday evening at a dinner meeting at 6:30 o'clock in lieu of the regular noon meeting.

At the meeting, at which approximately 60 Ulster county farmers will be guests of Rotarians, Don J. Wickham of Hector, president of the New York State Farm Bureau, will be the speaker.

This will be the annual "rural-urban" meeting at which the business men of the city and the farmers of the rural areas will get together and have an opportunity to discuss their problems, each as related to the other. Harry Beatty is chairman of the committee in charge.

Outstanding in Field

Don J. Wickham served as vice-president of the New York Farm Bureau from 1943 until his election as president in 1954. He is also a member of the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation and his energy and enthusiasm have sparked many farm organizations as well as his own successful career as a farmer.

In 1924 Wickham was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree by Cornell University when he was graduated from the New York State College of Agriculture. He immediately began farming in his own community where he specializes in dairy, poultry and fruit production.

Grows Fruit

He operates well over 100 acres of cherries, peaches and grapes. He also operates a general country store. He has served as president of the Finger Lakes Fruit Cooperative of Watkins Glen, which has given new life to the grape industry.

The Finger Lakes co-operative has merged with the National Grape Growers Cooperative of Westfield, N. Y. Wickham has served as president of the Schuylers County Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association; has been master of his local Grange; head field man and later deputy executive assistant of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in New York State; a member of the State Committee on Highway Finance Planning under appointment by Governor Dewey; a member of the board of directors and secretary of the Farm Family Life Insurance Company; member of the board of directors of the New York Telephone Company; member of the school board of Watkins Glen Central School; member of New York State Horticultural Society and the Jefferson Lodge F & AM of Watkins Glen. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

He will speak to the Rotary members and guests and also answer questions in regard to agricultural subjects of interest to business men.

Storm Toll . . .

Red Cross workers in the Texas panhandle used snow shoes and skis. Military helicopters picked up the frail and the needy and flew them to the nearest town or hospital.

Highway crews worked around the clock, clearing the snow.

School buses removed approximately 440 passengers from two cross-country streamliners stuck in the snow in western Kansas.

440 Taken From Trains

Taken into Meade, Kan., were 225 passengers of the Rock Island's eastbound Golden State Limited. They were housed in a high school gymnasium and given their first hot meal since Sunday night. The passengers said they had only coffee and crackers until their rescue last night. There was no heat aboard the train.

Two of the passengers suffered heart attacks. Only a diabetic was reported in serious condition. She had run out of insulin. Most passengers were just hungry and tired.

Another 215 aboard the westbound City of St. Louis, snow-bound near Winona, Kan., were removed to Oakley, Kan., by the Union Pacific.

Articles Air-Dropped

Before their rescue, some food and necessities were air-dropped. A doctor, brought through by a National Guard snow tractor Sunday, ministered 25 passengers aboard the Golden State Limited for carbon monoxide poisoning.

George A. Vrillakas of Roberta, Calif., a passenger aboard the City of St. Louis, was flown into Oakley by helicopter for insulin shots.

Flown out to Liberal, Kan., the same way from the Rock Island train were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tubbs of South Bend, Ind. Tubbs has a heart ailment and the emergency rescue was ordered by the doctor.

Other Trains Delayed

Other passenger trains were delayed in the storm area. Included were the Santa Fe's eastbound Grand Canyon Limited at Deerfield, west of Garden City, Kan.; its Westbound Chief at Garden City, and several other Santa Fe schedules at Newton, Kan. One of these was the Westbound El Capitan which left Chicago Saturday.

Also held up in Kansas, waiting for tracks to clear were east and westbound sections of the Missouri Pacific's Colorado Eagle. Four more Rock Island trains were held at Pratt, Kan.

More than 200 passengers aboard 20 buses were stranded on routes out of Kansas City.

Greyhound, Continental Trailways and Crown Bus Lines said all were well cared for.

HERCULITES FETE LEFREN, TUCKER—

More than 100 people attended a dinner Sunday night in honor of two Hercules Powder Co. officials, Edward K. Lefren (center), former works manager at the Port Ewen plant, now assistant director of operations in the explosives department, Wilmington, Del., and Richard C. Tucker (left), new works manager at Port Ewen. At right is H. Irvin Etchells Jr., assistant works manager. Seated (l-r) are the Mmes. Tucker, Lefren and Etchells. The dinner held at Aiello's Restaurant on 9W bypass was sponsored by the salaried employee group at the area plant as a formal farewell to Mr. Lefren and a welcome to Mr. Tucker. (Freeman photo).

Wilson Loses

(D) 13th District, New York city, bill which would permit a limited number of antlerless deer to be shot on the last day of the season.

Got Amendment

The Maresca bill sponsored by the State Conservation Department originally provided that there be a wide open deer season but through the efforts of Assemblyman Wilson, it was amended to permit only a limited number of special antlerless deer permits to be issued. The number of permits issued would depend on the number of buck deer taken the previous year.

Assemblyman Wilson has consistently tried to amend this bill in a similar fashion but the council remained unmoved. Mr. Wilson pointed out that the council in its March bulletin, the official newspaper of the council, said that it would be necessary for purposes of good public relations, to inaugurate a doe-deer season on a special permit basis in certain regions of the state.

During the debate Assemblyman Wilson said he was fearful that Ulster county being so close to New York city, would be overrun by New York city hunters seeking to take advantage of the wide open doe-deer season. Mr. Wilson was assisted in his attempt to kill the Gordon bill by Assemblyman Hyman Mintz, (R) Sullivan county; Assemblyman Willis Stephens, (R) Putnam county and Assemblyman Willard Drumm, (R) Columbia county.

When originally introduced, the Gordon bill was thought to exclude Washington, Columbia, Putnam, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester counties. However closer scrutiny of the proposed measure revealed that such a clause did not apply.

Bond, Stock Broker

In the Girard H. Kunst advertisement appearing in Monday's Freeman, the identification with the concern should have read Bond and Stock Broker, not Bonded Stock Broker. Mr. Kunst maintains his office at 277 Fair street.

Furrier Making

floor level display window for showing furs.

The business will be expanded to carry other items of women's wear to complement the fur line, Reuben Leventhal said.

A wrapping department and office will be located near the front of the store.

Opening off from the front portion of the store will be the fur salon, a circular shaped "oval room" devoted exclusively to the showing of furs. The salon will be lighted by indirect lighting which will completely circle the ceiling and spot lights will be located about the salon to illuminate individual fur displays. Concealed fitting rooms will be located off the fur salon and to the rear of the fur display salon will be the storage vaults, stock room and work shop.

During alterations business is being conducted as usual. The second floor of the Leventhal building will contain offices while on the upper floor will continue to be located the ball room and dance hall.

World News in Brief

Meany Calls Council

Washington, March 26 (AP)—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, today called a meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council on Friday to consider the Dave Beck case. The AFL-CIO spokesman who announced the meeting did not elaborate beyond saying it would deal "with this Beck thing, of course."

Hope for Strike End

London, March 26 (AP)—Britain's government today pinned its hopes of ending a strike by 1,200,000 industrial and shipyard workers on a public court of inquiry.

Labor Minister Iain Macleod decided to appoint the court after wage talks broke down between shipyard management and union leaders of some 200,000 employees who walked out 11 days ago. The strike has halted work on 300 vessels under construction.

Macleod appealed to union chiefs to call off their stoppage while the inquiry goes on. The leaders promised to report the request to their executive committee as Macleod assured them the inquiry tribunal would go to work with a "minimum of delay."

Map Tax Relief

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Democratic leaders were reported laying the groundwork today for a Jan. 1, 1958 income tax reduction based on cuts they hope to make in President Eisenhower's spending budget.

The Democratic plan, said to be under consideration by Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) and other leaders, appeared aimed at beating the Republicans to the election year political punch on both economy and tax cuts.

If Congress forces the substantial reductions in Eisenhower's er's $71,800,000,000 spending program that some Democrats hope for, they are expected to produce for action in the current session a "bill which would cut back individual income taxes at the beginning of next year."

Ike Help Is Seen

Washington, March 26 (AP)—An expected request from France for guided missile armament similar to that promised Great Britain appeared likely today to get sympathetic consideration from President Eisenhower.

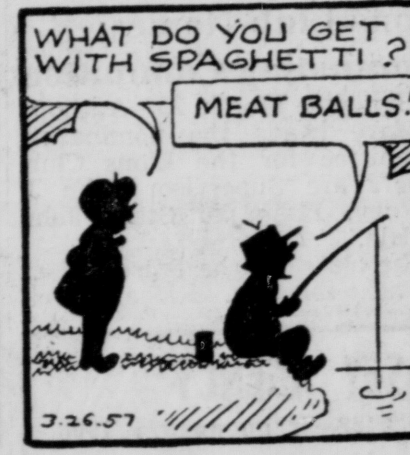

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) said the possibility of transferring such missiles to France came up yesterday at a White House meeting in which Eisenhower briefed congressional leaders on the Bermuda conference.

In Bermuda Eisenhower agreed with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that the United States will furnish Britain guided missiles capable of carrying atomic warheads. The understanding is these warheads would be stored in Britain under American custody, since U. S. law now forbids the sharing of atomic weapons with this country's allies.

Dulles Asks . . .

gressional leaders were informed at the White House yesterday that the Eisenhower administration is not even sure when intermediate range ballistic missiles will be supplied to Britain in accordance with a promise made at Bermuda last week.

4. The United States still intends to establish its right of free passage through the Gulf of Aqaba but has not yet decided when or how to do so. It does plan, Dulles said, to ask the United Nations to seek an advisory decision from the world court.

WHY, THAT LOOKS BEAUTIFUL!!!

Well, it's not exactly perfect yet . . . so we can't take the soap off the windows. But it won't be more than a few weeks before we invite YOU, Mr. & Mrs. PUBLIC, to be guests at our remodeled old home.

Our tested 106-year Banking Service will return to most-modern, but familiar, old surroundings at that time. Until then, we offer what we're famous for; warm Banking friendship with a background of proven community support. New Island Dock Concrete Block Plant

Modern Plant Is Now in Operation

With the addition of a new, and completely modern, concrete block plant Island Dock can now manufacture any known concrete or cinder block, Sales Manager John E. Purvis announced today.

There will be no limit on quantity or size, since plant production has now doubled and 7,500 eight inch units will be produced per eight-hour work day.

Island Dock was one of the first concerns in this area to manufacture concrete blocks and have engaged in this business since the early 20's. With the introduction of modern machines and streamlined methods, Island Dock continues to lead in the field of concrete block production.

Ernest Kidd, formerly employed by (Island Dock) ship yard has been promoted to superintendent of the plant, in charge of maintenance, production, and operation. Prior to the opening of the new plant, Mr. Kidd attended the Besser School in Alpena, Michigan. Here, in actual Besser plant operation, he learned how to work with, repair, and operate the machinery necessary to modern concrete block manufacture.

With the exception of Mr. Kidd, who formerly worked in another department at the yard, the new plant personnel remains unchanged . . . including many men who have been with Island Dock for 10, or more years.

The plant, six months under construction, is located on the site of the former Fisher Ice House, long an Ulster County landmark.

The effect of this expansion on the area is forecast by the fact that only local materials will be used by Island Dock. Approximately 200 tons of aggregate crushed lime stone is being supplied daily by the Callanan Road Improvement Company of South Bethlehem, and cement will be purchased from area cement concerns. Materials will be brought in by local trucking concerns.

Under the new process, concrete blocks will be steam cured, and delivered with special roll-off and hydraulic equipment. Trucks specifically designed for this purpose have been purchased by Island Dock in order that streamlined production methods may be matched by modern delivery methods, as well.

The present production of concrete and cinder blocks is in addition to Island Dock's existing Ready Mixed Concrete service.

Handyman Is Held For Killing Widow

New York, March 26 (AP)—A Bowery handyman who stowed away on a trans-Atlantic liner is back here in jail, charged with strangling a 46-year-old widow.

John Benjamin, 27, a Negro drifter, arrived in the brig of the liner Constitution yesterday. Police booked him on a homicide charge in the death of Mrs. Anna Orlovsky.

The woman's body was found in her lower East Side apartment March 6, the day the Constitution sailed for Europe.

Five days later sailors caught a stowaway when hunger forced him to raid the ship's galley. His description was sent here.

Police found the description matched that of Benjamin. Earlier they had sought Benjamin for questioning when they learned he had done repair work at the apartment house where Mrs. Orlovsky died.

May Not Know for Year

Chicago, March 26 (AP)—The fight for control of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. may not be determined for a year or more, it was indicated today. This was the estimate of a lawyer who sat in yesterday on a U. S. District Court hearing at which plans were worked out for the conduct of the battle. At issue is the legality of certain shares in the company acquired by Leopold D. Silberstein, president of Penn-Texas Corp., who claims that he controls almost half the Fairbanks Morse stock.

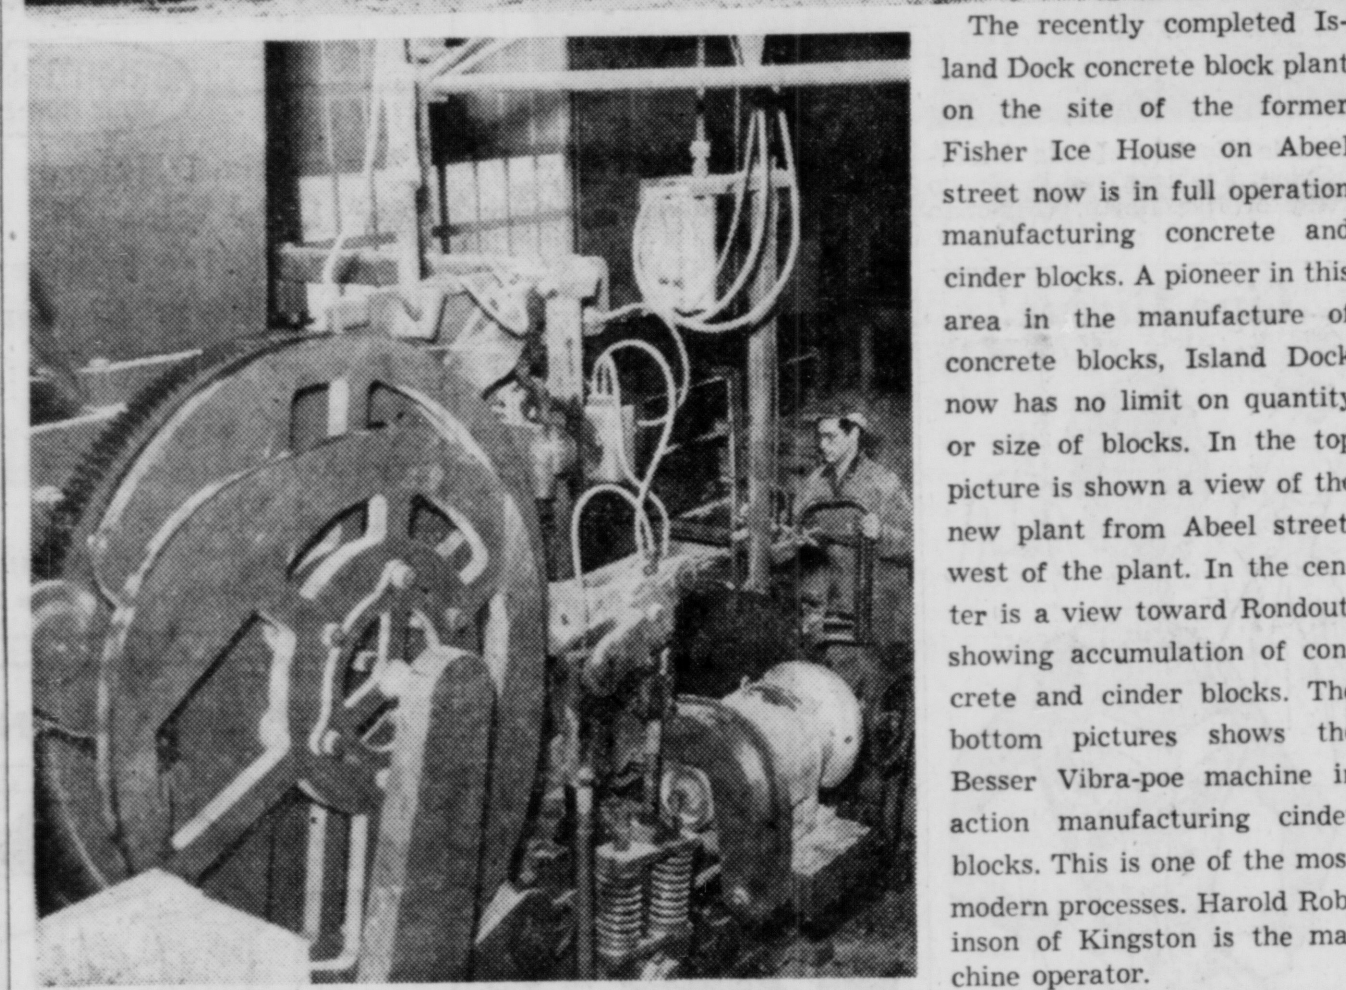

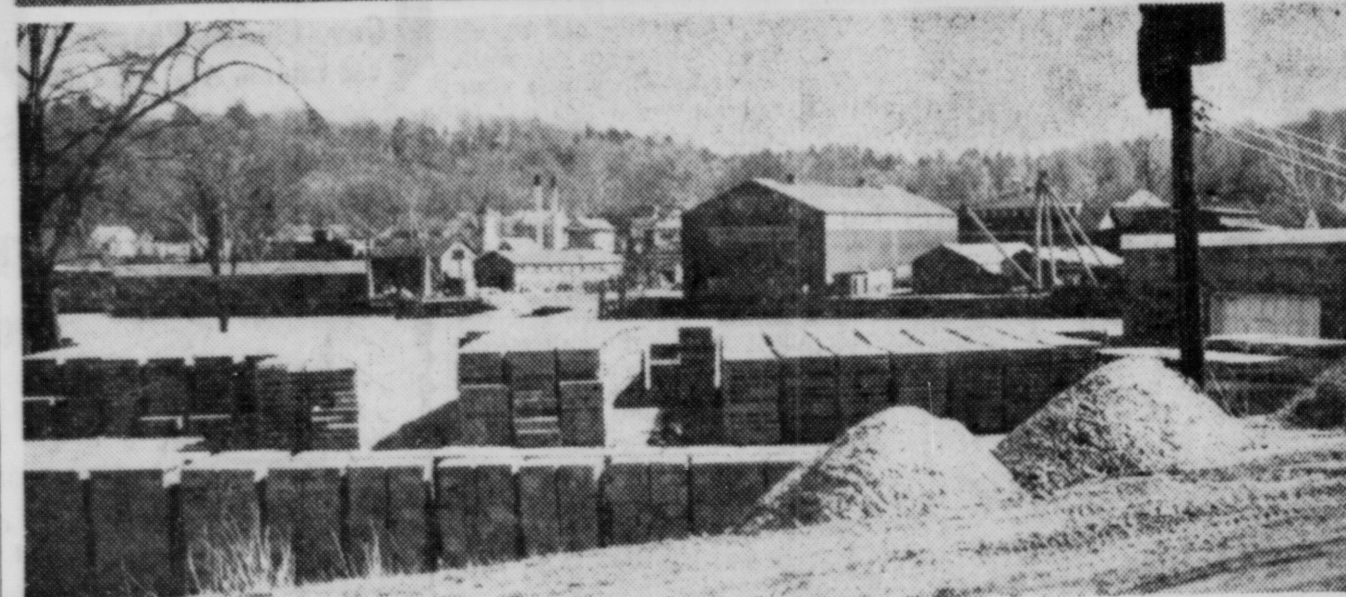

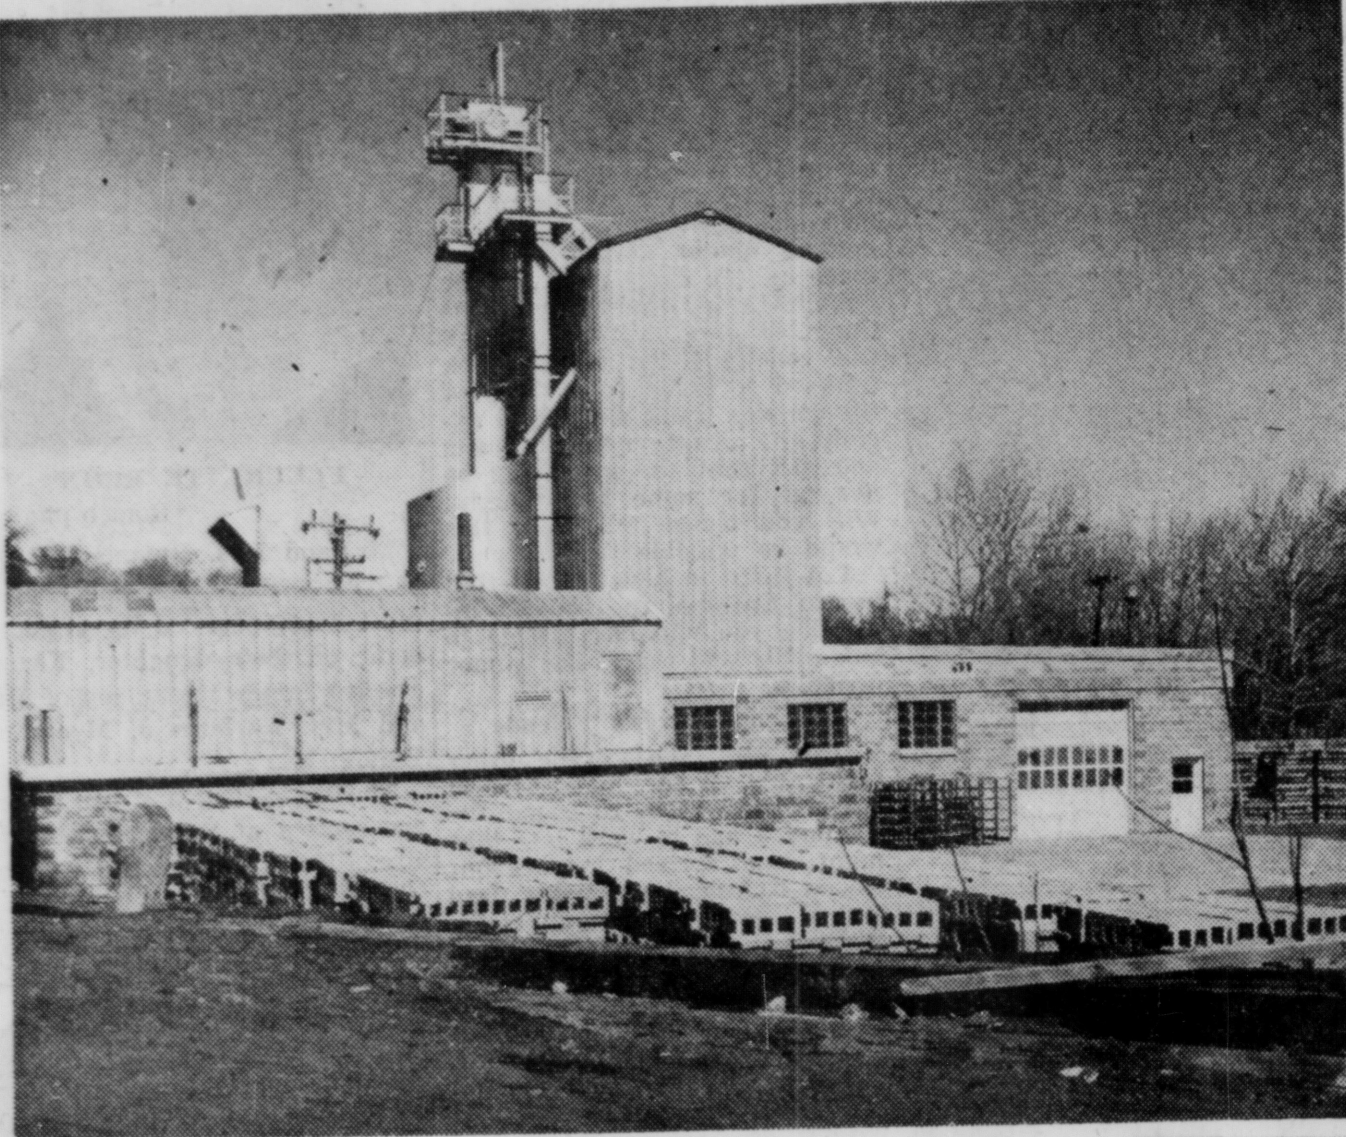

Railroad Picks Up

Baltimore, March 26 (AP)—The net income of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for February was $1,233,799, an increase of over $575,000 over February of 1956. Operating revenues for the month were $35,149,799 compared to $35,464,661 for the same month last year, the railroad said today. Freight revenues contributed over 31 million dollars to the total revenue while only $1,400,000 came from passenger operations.

Producers to Lose Cent

Boston, March 26 (AP)—The price of milk will drop approximately a cent a quart to producers supplying the federally regulated markets in New England on April 1, it was announced today. Richard D. Apin, federal milk marketing administrator for the Greater Boston, Merrimack Valley, Springfield, and Worcester marketing areas, said the price reduction is the normal seasonal decrease for April.

A postage stamp or a section of land and everything in between can be found through The Kingston Daily Freeman classified ads.

The recently completed Island Dock concrete block plant on the site of the former Fisher Ice House on Abell street now is in full operation manufacturing concrete and cinder blocks. A pioneer in this area in the manufacture of concrete blocks, Island Dock now has no limit on quantity or size of blocks. In the top picture is shown a view of the new plant from Abell street, west of the plant. In the center is a view toward Rondout, showing accumulation of concrete and cinder blocks. The bottom pictures shows the Besser Vibra-poe machine in action manufacturing cinder blocks. This is one of the most modern processes. Harold Robinson of Kingston is the machine operator.

Opinions Differ on Ike's Health

Hagerty Says He's Fine; All Tired at Bermuda, His Answer

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Trying to judge President Eisenhower's physical condition by looking at him—or looking at pictures of him—is tricky business and so far has not proved anything.

For weeks Eisenhower has been troubled by a cough. On March 12 doctors at Walter Reed Hospital checked him over. The next day the President told reporters the doctors thought he was in "quite good shape from their standpoint."

At times in recent weeks some newsmen who have seen Eisenhower closeup thought he looked tired. Others, seeing him at the same time, thought he looked excellent. Some recent pictures made him look tired. In others he looks fine.

Last week his appointment secretary, Bernard M. Shanley, in a speech mainly devoted to the Supreme Court, mentioned Eisenhower in a way that emphasized his tiredness and compared the President of three years ago and today.

Can't Do Same Things

"It's impossible," said Shanley, "for the President to do the things he did three years ago. I have seen the President so tired he has rested his head on his hands."

In a talk to the nation Feb. 29, 1956—five months after his heart attack and announcing he would seek a second term—Eisenhower made it clear that if re-elected he would have to cut down on some of the activities he had indulged in before his heart attack.

He said: "Some of the things in which I can properly have a reduced schedule include public speeches, office appointments with individuals and groups, ceremonial dinners, receptions, and portions of a very heavy correspondence."

A week later Eisenhower, denying Democratic complaints that he was already a "part-time President," said that if the time ever came when he didn't feel fit to carry out his duties he would inform the people immediately.

An Associated Press reporter, regularly assigned to the White House for years, says that so far as he can determine Eisenhower is working as long hours as ever. But he also says he never saw Eisenhower looking better than he did the day before his heart attack on Sept. 24, 1955 and the night before his stomach attack last summer.

Tires at Bermuda

One reporter who was with Eisenhower at his Bermuda meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan last week said later the President seemed to him tired around the eyes when he boarded his plane Sunday to return home.

Another reporter, meeting Eisenhower when he got off that plane here, wrote that the President looked "tan and fit." The picture accompanying that story seemed to show the President looking fit.

But other newsmen who met that same plane thought the President looked "quite fatigued." James Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, was told of this yesterday. He said he thought all those who took part in the Bermuda conference left a little tired afterwards.

Outside of that, Hagerty said, Eisenhower was feeling fine.

Coughs Presses Chest

One press photographer who followed Eisenhower around Bermuda later said the President coughed frequently there, holding a handkerchief to his mouth and pressing his chest.

He also said that Eisenhower—during a half hour of hitting golf balls around with Hagerty at Bermuda—sat down on the ground three or four times to rest.

Yesterday morning Hagerty said that during Eisenhower's leisurely voyage to Bermuda and his stay there he had shaken off a head cold and ear trouble but still had an occasional cough.

Yet yesterday afternoon Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.), after attending Eisenhower's White House conference with congressional leaders, said the President looked fit, did not appear to be hoarse, and did not cough during the hour and 20 minutes he spent with the senators and representatives.

Secretary of State Dulles was reported to have done most of the talking with the Congress members because, at the start, Eisenhower said his voice was not up to a lengthy discussion.

Grim Gag

Baltimore (AP)—The fact that Maryland's highway death toll this year reached a near record apparently didn't phase some vandals near here. They altered a 30-mile-an-hour speed sign on a street near the Ritchie Highway to read 80 m.p.h.

UN Finds 60 PC of World Not Informed on Events

United Nations, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The United Nations has learned that nearly 60 per cent of the earth's population cannot be fully informed of events at home and abroad.

That's 1½ billion people. In the United States, where each person uses up about 77 pounds of newspaper a year, it's difficult to grasp the fact that throughout most of Asia and the Middle East, each person uses up only about 11 ounces a year.

Studies Remedy
In Africa, there are only 1.4 radio receivers for 100 persons.

The United Nations is studying ways to help underdeveloped countries improve their media of information. The basic test is whether the average inhabitant can, in his daily life, count on access to news about more than purely local affairs.

The UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) has adopted the criterion that a country is inadequately supplied with information media if 100 inhabitants have less than 10 copies of daily newspapers, less than 5 radio receivers, and less than two movie seats.

Storms Are Blow To Ranchers as Cattle Perish

Raton, N. M., March 26 (AP)—Reports of cattle losses in northeastern New Mexico piled up today in the wake of the weekend blizzard that left one man dead and halted countless travelers.

Ranchers said it may be days before the cattle loss is determined. Some feared as many as 50 per cent of their spring calves perished.

Ranchers in Albuquerque for the 43rd annual convention of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Assn. agreed the storm had little or no beneficial effect on the drought-plagued ranges or northeastern New Mexico.

They said the snowfall was not excessively heavy and the high winds piled up the snow in small areas, leaving most of the range bone-dry.

State police said late last night U. S. 66 had been opened east of Tucumcari, where an estimated 1,800 travelers were halted over the weekend. Highways north into Colorado, including U. S. 85-87 over Raton Pass, were opened yesterday. U. S. 54 remained blocked by snow.

Police reported P. L. Ward, 64, a Santa Fe railway engineer at Raton, was found dead in a snow drift close to his home. He was dressed only in an undershirt and shorts. Police theorized Ward had become locked outside his home and was unable to get back inside before freezing.

Three Southern Pacific trains with more than 300 passengers aboard were forced to remain at Tucumcari from Sunday through Monday while crews worked to clear tracks to the east.

Three-Card Suit Lead Is Quizzer

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What card do you lead from a three-card suit?

The best rule is to lead from another suit but sometimes a three-card suit lead is indicated and you have to pick one of your three cards.

The old-fashioned textbook lead is the top card unless it is an honor. The advantage is that when you lead low your partner knows that you either hold four cards or an honor. The disadvantages are twofold. The declarer knows that he can play your partner for all missing high cards in the suit and your partner never knows whether you hold two or three.

The middle card colloquially called "the middle of the top of nothing" is popular with some losing players but winning players shun it like plague. The modern expert leads the lowest. Partner cannot tell if he holds three or four but neither can declarer, nor can declarer tell if the leader holds any high cards in the suit.

West decided to open his three-card heart suit and chose the lowest card, the deuce in today's hand.

The play went eight-nine-queen and declarer had a problem. He needed four heart tricks or a club finesse for his contract. Declarer played the three of hearts right back and finessed dummy's ten. This lost to the jack. A club came back. Declarer finessed the queen and when that lost to the king he was down one trick.

Perhaps South misplayed the hand but if West had opened the five of hearts declarer could not possibly have gone wrong.

First Concert Given
Sunday by Kingston
Symphony Orchestra

The first concert given Sunday by the Kingston Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Mark Baczynsky received a laudatory response from those attending.

The event was sponsored by the Adult Education program of the Kingston Public Schools and was given in the Kingston High School Auditorium.

Mozart, Schubert, Beethoven, Grieg and Bizet were some of the composers whose works were played.

The concert closed with "Knightsbridge March," by Coates.

Mr. Baczynsky is on the teaching staff of the Kingston High School.

Cardelli-Houghton
Wedding Announced

On Sunday, March 10, Miss Diane Cardelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giovanni Cardelli of Water Mill, L. I., became the bride of Lawrence O. Houghton, son of Mrs. Reeve Houghton of 226 East 70th street and Owen Edward Houghton, also of New York, in the chapel of the Central Presbyterian Church, New York city.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. Dr. Theodore Cuyler Speers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length dress of deep cream colored brocade fashioned along princess lines. With it she wore a veil of heirloom lace and carried sweetheart roses.

The bride's sister, Miss Gloria Cardelli, was the maid of honor. She wore a dress of buttercup yellow organza and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Best man was Richard Dalton Carter, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride is a granddaughter of Countess Giovanni de Roussy Cardelli of Chicago, the late Count Cardelli and Countess Raoul de Sales of New York and the late Cecil Park Stewart of Centre Island, Oyster Bay, L. I.

A graduate of Indian View School in Lakeville, Conn., Mrs. Houghton also attended Haverhill College in Toronto, Canada.

The bridegroom, who served with the air force, is a graduate of the Hotchkiss School and Yale University. He is associated with Herzog Supply Company.

The couple plan to make their future home in Kingston.

WHEN FIRST INVITATION
HAS BEEN ACCEPTED

A reader writes as follows: "My husband and I and three other couples were invited to a gathering at another couple's house. We were the only guests invited for that night. We were invited about three weeks ahead of time and all accepted with pleasure. The following week an organization to which we all belong, with the exception of the host and hostess, announced its annual dinner dance to take place on the same night. While not obligatory that we go, it is the most important function of the year and we always look forward to going to it. Two of the couples think we should explain the situation to our hosts and ask that the gathering be put off for some other night. Will you please tell us if this would be possible?"

I'm sorry to have to say that having accepted the couple's invitation you will have to go to this party and regret the dinner dance.

Greeting Sister's Friends

Dear Mrs. Post: The other night my sister had several friends of hers in to spend the evening. I had to work late that night and arrived home about eleven o'clock. I was very tired and so went directly to my room. While I knew most of the people who were there, they are not really friends of mine. My sister told me the next day that she thought I was very rude for not going in to greet her guests. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: You were not at all rude—unless you had to walk through the room in which your sister's friends were seated. In which case, you would have greeted them briefly and explained that you were so tired that you were going straight to bed.

"God Bless You"

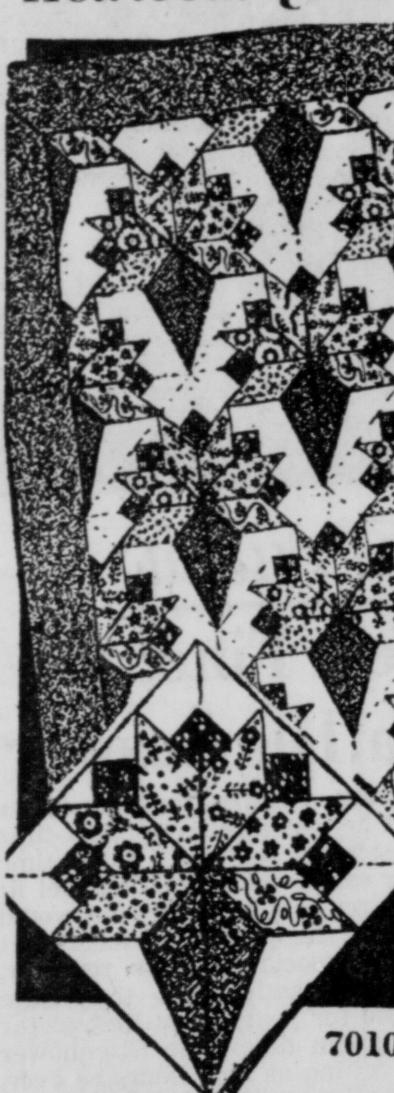

Dear Mrs. Post: During a recent discussion the question arose as to whether it is proper to say "God bless you" when a person sneezes, or do you just ignore it.

Answer: Some people always say it after a person sneezes and others never do. It is entirely proper to say it, but it is not improper not to.

Forms for invitations to a large wedding are different from invitations to small weddings. Mrs. Post explains in her leaflet E-10, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station 'G, New York 19, N. Y.

William McVey Slated To Sing on New York Station on Sunday

William McVey Jr. will be the guest artist on the program Song Classics over New York city's own station, WNYC-803M or FM 93.9K, next Sunday from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m.

His program will include two English songs by Roger Quilter, "O Mistress Mine" and "Love's Philosophy"; and a German song, "der Lindenbaum." For the closing number Mr. McVey will sing the famous baritone aria, "Nemico della Patria," from Umberto Giordano's opera, "Andrea Chénier." Station WNYC is well known for its programs of classical music which are listened to by thousands of music lovers in the metropolitan and outlying areas.

Mr. McVey is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. William J. McVey and occasionally is guest soloist at the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, where his father is the pastor. He is a graduate of Kingston High School, where he starred in several plays and was senior class orator at the graduation exercises. While in high school, he was for a couple of years, well known to radio listeners as announcer on several programs over Station WKNY. At present he is associated with Christian Herald in New York city as advertising representative and is continuing his vocal training with competent teachers.

Auxiliary Aid Given In Decorating Work

Miss Rosemarie Pellegrino, director of nursing and nursing services at Kingston Hospital, said today that the first phase of the redecorating project at the Nurses' residence had been completed. This work of refurbishing the 39 rooms now occupied by students at the school was made possible by funds supplied by the hospital auxiliary.

A committee, consisting of auxiliary members, Miss Pellegrino and a staff representative, have purchased and installed in each room new venetian blinds, draperies, desk lamps and utility cabinets. A special effort was made in selecting these items to brighten and modernize the rooms and make them more comfortable for the student occupants. From time to time, as more funds become available, the auxiliary hopes to continue the redecoration project in other areas of the residence.

Speaker Tonight At Ulster Kiwanis

THOMAS L. BROWNE
Thomas L. Browne, local attorney, addresses the Town of Ulster Kiwanis meeting tonight at the Airport Inn on the subject, "The Attorney in a Small Community."

Mr. Browne, who has offices at 12 John street and in the town of Shandaken, represents the New York Mutual Insurance Company as claims attorney.

He is now working with a former member of the faculty of the Yale Law School on an article entitled "Early English Common Law." Mr. Browne is the fifth generation of his family to practice law before the New York State courts.

After serving in the European Theatre for three years with the U. S. infantry, he entered and graduated from Catholic University of America where he was awarded Phi Beta Kappa honors. He also taught various courses including some in the field of classical literature. He served for several years with the reserve officer corps, First Army.

He is a member of the Ulster County Bar Association, Phoenicia Post of the American Legion, Kingston Council of the Knights of Columbus, Phoenicia Fish and Game Club and the Trailswepers Ski Club.

William Powers is chairman of the program committee for the meeting.

Jewish Campaign For Funds Will Begin Tonight

The United Jewish Welfare Fund of Kingston will begin its initial gifts division solicitation of funds tonight at the Jewish Community Center Building at 8:30 o'clock.

The leadership for this year's campaign will be sparked by the keynote address of Harry Frankel, New York State Eastern Region chairman, who will answer the questions about the $100,000,000 Emergency Rescue Fund.

Record Turnout Due

Reports reaching the Welfare Fund office indicate a record attendance of 110 men and women at the meeting this evening. For the first time, a precedent will be set in encouraging women as well as men to participate in the initial gifts meeting.

Last year's meeting held at the home of Abraham Streifer reported a total of $21,000 from 58 contributors. Advance reports indicate an even larger total from a greater number of contributors will be forthcoming this evening. As an added incentive to the chairmen of the intermediate and general solicitation divisions, the chairmen of these groups have been invited to attend the initial gifts meeting in preparation for the Work-Shop Meeting Thursday, March 28, to be held at the center.

More than 1,100 cards will be solicited by the area and division chairmen for the 1957 drive for $75,000 Regular United Jewish Welfare Fund and the $45,000 Emergency Rescue Fund goals of the Kingston United Jewish Welfare Fund.

Another campaign innovation was announced by Chairman Herman G. Rafalowsky. The campaign cabinet and the leadership of the solicitation sections will meet each Tuesday and Thursday throughout the six-week campaign to collect reports and assign the work in the process. The campaign office will be open for reports and solicitor assistance each Tuesday and Thursday from the hours of 7 to 9:30 p. m. to receive and disburse materials for the campaign.

Cadet Still Missing

West Point, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Military authorities say that Cadet Jerome Lee Gibbons, 18, of Fulton, N. Y., has not been reported seen since the day after he disappeared from the academy March 17. An academy spokesman said yesterday the plebe was seen about 15 miles from here on March 18. He was seen at Campbell Hall, on Route 207 in Orange county, walking near a church in the center of town. A group of Erie Railroad workers saw him about an hour later that day as he was walking west on the tracks.

Plans Are Made For Dinner to Start Cancer Drive

Extensive arrangements for the "kick-off" dinner for Ulster county's 1957 cancer drive were made by the campaign committee during their weekly meeting, held last night at the County Tumor Clinic on Broadway.

Those attending the meeting were George E. Heddy, Mrs. John D. Krusher Sr., George R. Mustaparta, Mrs. Arthur J. Freeman, Richard M. Kalish, Philip Toffel, Leo F. Kilcoyne and Mrs. C. Bernard Ruckdeschel Jr.

The dinner to be held in the St. James Methodist Church hall on Monday evening, April 1, will be the official send-off for the drive, which will be held throughout April, traditionally known as cancer month.

It is expected that a large number of both city and county workers will attend this dinner. Speakers for the evening include Alan Stevenson, executive director of the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society, and Dr. Ole Peterson, director of research of the Sloan-Kettering Institute, an affiliate of the Memorial Hospital, New York city. Supplies for the cancer drive will be distributed, and a brief instruction period, to familiarize drive personnel with the mechanics of the campaign will also be held.

I do not mind the scents you wear

Nor the carmen on your lips, Nor the polish that you splash upon

Your dainty fingertips; I do not mind your powdering, Till your face is white as death, But, dear, love turns to loathing, When there's onion on your breath.

All his life, the little mink had been warned that if he were bad he would become a coat for some chorus girl. Well at long last the little mink died and went to heaven. St. Peter told him, "Well, we haven't had any minks up here before, so we don't know exactly what to do for you. However, you were a very good little mink on earth and we want you to be happy, so we will give you anything you want."

Little Mink—Please, St. Peter, could I have a coat made out of bad little chorus girls?

Sickler's Makes KBT Debut Tonight Against Maines Quintet

Miron vs. Backs In First Game Of Doubleheader

Defending champion Sickler's Delivery makes its debut in the Kingston Basketball Tournament tonight (Tuesday) against Maines Machine Shop in the headliner of an all local doubleheader at the municipal auditorium.

In the first game, Miron Lumber goes against Back's Cedarapars at 7:15 p. m.

The twin bill marks the end of first round play. After this evening, only half the field of 112 teams will be still alive.

Sideliners have installed Sickler's the tourney favorite and rightfully so. The Deliverymen captured the championship the past two times out and have another fine start-studded combination dominated by former Siena College greats.

Junior Kolokowski, Suffern High coach and last year's tourney MVP, spearheads the quintet. He is backed up by Frank (Yip) Koenig, Ralph Fedullo, George Bruda, Frank Hogan from last year's club, plus Frank Connolly, this year's Siena captain, Jack Carroll, formerly of Manhattan and Big Bill Knott, a local cager.

Azary Not Eligible
John Azary, Haggerty Trophy winner in 1951 for Columbia University, is also listed on Sickler's roster, but won't be eligible because he played in the professional Eastern League.

Sickler's will be running into some of the boys that helped upset them in the Hudson Valley tournament at Poughkeepsie Friday. Skip Broadhead, Bob Maines, Ray Lawrence and Bill DuBois played key roles for Godwin's Upholstery in their 89-68 shocker. DuBois was particularly troublesome, scoring 19 points.

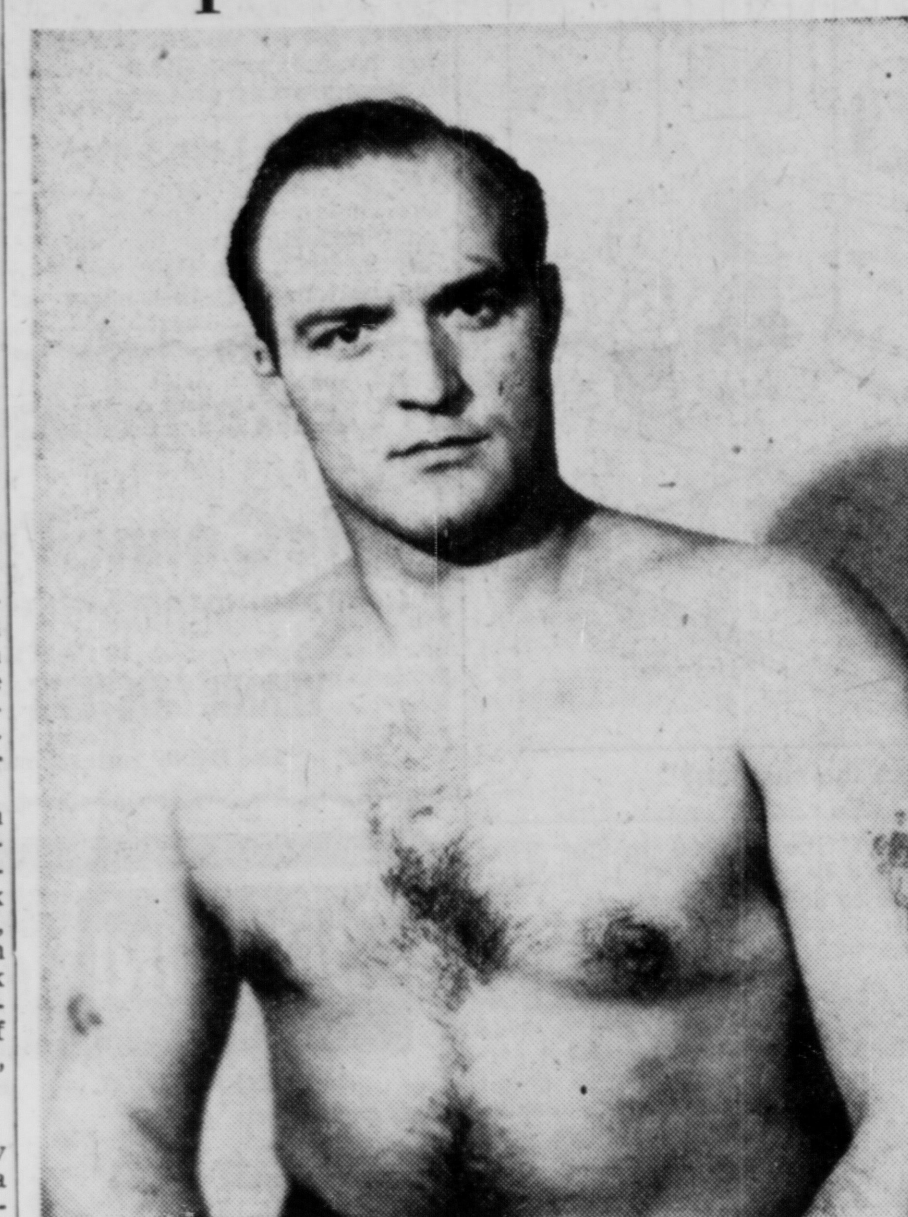

Maines has loaded up with college talent too. They have dug into New Paltz Teachers and come up with high-scoring Sol Goldin of Ellenville, Jack Hussnatter and Tom Murphy, members of this year's Hawks. John Godwin, who has been playing for the Parris Island Marines, is also on the roster and is expected to appear. Rounding out the squad are Randy Segal and Jim Mackey.

The opener promises to be another real dog-fight. Back's has good sharpshooters in Butch Tomaseski and Werner Westra and reliable Beaky and Jake Smith. Fred Orr, Dick Chatham, Vince Hainer, Bruce Hinkley, Jim Ferraro and Jim Colclough. Miron boasts four players with college experience. Jack Gilfeather played at Champlain, Ted Williams at Colgate, Lou Glinka at Massachusetts and Jim Mirk at Dayton. The rest of the team is composed of Jack Kahn, Jim Baker, Steve Fraser, Bill Chant, John Gudine, Don Skelly and Joe Cardone.

Lee-Kato Opening Bout Completes Mat Card

DR. GRAHAM

Wednesday's wrestling card at the municipal auditorium has been completed with the announcement by promoter Ted Bayley of Troy that badman Cowboy Rocky Lee of Dallas, Tex., will take on Oyma Kato of Japan in the opening bout which will be a thirty minute time limit match.

The headliner pits Rickie Starr, current TV rage, of Hollywood, Calif., against Dr. Jerry Graham of Toronto, Canada. It will be two out of three falls.

The semi-final will be an Australian tag team bout—two out of three falls. Wild Man Fargo and Don Stevens will go against Junior Garabaldi and Chief Bib Heart.

First bout is 8:30 p. m.

Highland LL Drive Ready

A house-to-house canvass to raise $3,000 for a new Little League baseball diamond and field at Highland is slated for Sunday.

Ralph Penney, vice-president of the circuit, heads a group of 80 workers who will participate in the campaign. The program has the approval of Town of Lloyd Supervisor John J. Gaffney and is being backed by the Highland Lions Club and Highland Chamber of Commerce.

A total of $2700 was realized in last year's drive with the money being used to purchase 2½ acres of land on Grand street and for improvements. This operation is about 95 per cent completed.

Included in the list of needs are such items as fencing (both wire and wood), backstop, dugouts, bleachers and water and sewage facilities.

Officials are confident that the drive will be successful. They have set sometime next year as the official opening.

Underdog Blues Face Canadiens In Cup Opener

New York, March 26 (AP)—The New York Rangers will take a healthy, well rested, but decidedly underdog, team into tonight's opening Stanley Cup hockey playoff game against the Montreal Canadiens in Madison Square Garden.

A quick recovery from a lacerated cheekbone by center Larry Popen brought the Blueshirts to full strength. The injury, sustained in Sunday night's game against Chicago was thought to be serious. But X-rays proved negative and Popen is expected to be the middleman between Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice on the team's No. 1 line.

Watson Comments
"And we'll need every man in top form to beat the Canadiens," said Coach Phil Watson. "We're as ready as we'll ever be."

"I liked the way the club played against Boston over the weekend and we're clicking better now than we did at this time a year ago. The important thing is to get the jump in our two home games."

The first two games in the best-of-seven semifinal series will be played in New York. The remainder, because a circus will occupy the Garden starting April 3, will take place in the Montreal forum.

Detroit, March 26 (AP)—The team Jack Adams calls the weakest championship club in his 30 years in Detroit Hockey tangles with its most stubborn opponent tonight as the Red Wings open the Stanley Cup series against the Boston Bruins.

The Bruins, with their best club in years, defeated the best-winning Red Wings seven times during the regular season. The Wings were able to win only four times, with three games ending in ties.

12 Titles
The Detroit club won its 12th National Hockey League title because it could hammer away at the lower clubs with remarkable success. The Wings lost the season series both to Montreal and Boston, the teams that finished second and third respectively.

"We can't play Toronto and Chicago in the Stanley Cup," Adams reminded his club as it departed for the Red Wing rest camp in Toledo to await tonight's opener. "You gotta beat the best of 'em now."

Gymnastic Events Scheduled for Poughkeepsie 'Y'

Entries are now open for the eighth national YMCA Gymnastic championships to be held April 6 at the Poughkeepsie YMCA.

The championships are under the auspices of the Poughkeepsie YMCA and are open to all registered 'Y' amateur athletes.

Eleven events are scheduled: all around; side horse; horizontal bar; stationary rings; calisthenics; long horse; parallel bars; trampoline; tumbling; swinging rings and rope climbing.

Medals Awarded
Regulation 'Y' gold medals will be awarded the winners. Silver and bronze medals will go to second and third finishers, respectively in each event. In the all-around competition, regulation medals will go to first through sixth winners.

A team championship trophy will be awarded to the organization scoring the greatest number of points (based on AAU rules). Trophies for second and third will also be given.

Entries close March 30. They should be sent to Bill Buffa, chairman, National YMCA Gymnastic Commission, 22 Hampton road, Poughkeepsie or Don McKiernan, physical director, 60 Market street, Poughkeepsie.

Podres Still Holds Spell Over Yankees

By The Associated Press
A hitch in the Navy apparently hasn't taken the edge off that old black magic that Johnny Podres threw at the New York Yankees in the 1955 World Series.

The slim Brooklyn lefthander, who won two games from the Yanks—including a shutout in the finale—faced the Bronx Bombers at Vero Beach yesterday and they promptly rolled over and played dead.

He went six innings, didn't allow a hit and only permitted two men to reach first base, one on a walk and another on an error. But both were wiped out, so he wound up facing only 18 batters.

17 Scoreless Innings
Podres now has a string of 17 scoreless innings against the world champions. He didn't permit the Yanks a run in the last two innings of the third game of the '55 series, then whitewashed them in the last game.

The Brooks won yesterday's game, 1-0, in the 11th inning. That made Manager Walt Alston happy, but the Yankees could have scored a dozen runs after Podres finished his stint and the Brook pilot still would have been content.

He needs Podres' valuable arm badly. The Dodgers didn't have a reliable lefthander all last season, and they've been looking forward to Podres' return. Don Drysdale and Don Bessent finished up for the Brooks, incidentally, and they, too, held the Yogi Berra-less, Mickey Mantle-less, Moose Skowron-less Yanks at bay.

No-hit Don Larsen went five innings and yielded four hits. He didn't throw any hard stuff.

Other Games

Four other games were played. At Orlando, Fla., the Washington Senators defeated the Kansas City A's, 8-3; at Tucson, Ariz., the Chicago Cubs returned back to the Cleveland Indians, 11-6; at Phoenix, Ariz., the New York Giants outlasted the Baltimore Orioles, 6-4, and the Boston Red Sox whipped the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, 3-0, at Hollywood.

Both the Nats and the Cubs had big innings. Washington jumped on veteran Ned Garver for seven runs in the eighth inning—including a two-run homer by Herb Pless—then to wrap it up, and the Cubs coasted in after scoring six runs in the first inning against the Tribe. Ernie Banks and Jim Bolger each had two homers for the winners.

The Giants collected three home runs, off Baltimore pitchers, but the big one was by Dusty Rhodes. It came in the bottom of the 12th with a mate aboard and won the ball game. Foster Castleman and Hank Sauer also hit home runs for the Giants.

Ted Williams hit his first home run of the spring, for the Red Sox.

Four other games were called off because of bad weather. They were Cincinnati-St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Detroit-Chicago White Sox at Tampa, Pittsburgh-Philadelphia at Clearwater, and Milwaukee-Wichita (American Assn.) at Bradenton.

Schmidt, Maglio Join All-Stars To Face Trotters

Capt. Harv Schmidt, of Illinois, and John Maglio, North Carolina State, today signed with the College All-Americans for Sunday afternoon's basketball game with the Harlem Globetrotters in Madison Square Garden.

Schmidt, 6-5, was named the most valuable player on this season's Illinois squad. He averaged almost 20 points a game and was one of the most accurate foul shooters and best rebounders in the Western Conference.

Maglio, who lives in Haverhill, Mass., was NC State's ace player the past three years. He was twice named to the Atlantic Coast Conference all-tournament team and the past campaign was also chosen for the all-Dixie Classic squad. He averaged 47 per cent of his floor shots.

Sunday's Garden game inaugurates the 8th annual "World Series of Basketball" between the All-Americans and the Trotters. Last season the collegians bowed by one game in the coast-to-coast tour, winning 10 of 21.

The All-Americans will be coached by Frank McGuire, of North Carolina's NCAA champions, and Ray Meyer, DePaul. Other members of the squad to date include Irwin Blumenreich, Yeshiva; John Smyth, Notre Dame, and Dick Heise, DePaul. A variety vaudeville show will be presented before and during halves of the game.

Six Games Listed In YMCA 'B' Loop

Six games are on tap in the YMCA 'B' basketball league this week.

The schedule:

Tuesday
7:15—Wimpy's vs. Ramblers.
8:15—Yellow Jackets vs. Blacktops.
Wednesday
7:15—Caruso's vs. Texaco.
8:15—Accord vs. Corner Rest.
Saturday
7:15—Boulevard Gulf vs. Blacktops.
8:15—Wimpy's vs. Corner Rest.

Spooks Trim Immaculate To Cop First Round Title

Spooks captured first round championship in the Recreation Senior basketball league by whipping Immaculate Conception, 72-51, in a playoff last night at municipal auditorium.

Ray Lucas put on a one-man scoring show with 36 points to pace the winners. He meshed 13 baskets and hit on 10 of 11 free throws.

Tony Turck and Joe Tremper added valuable support with 14 and 12, respectively.

Bill McCabe topped the losers with 18. Sam Janacek made 15. Spooks led all the way after jumping off to an 18-8 lead in the first period. The halftime score was 34-16 and after three quarters, 52-33.

Spooks, Immaculate and Frank's Barber Shop finished in a three-way deadlock for first place. Spooks beat Frank's last week to earn right to meet Immaculate.

Next Tuesday, Spooks and Frank's will play off for second round championship at 7:15 p. m.

BRL Lists 8 Teams

Lineup of teams in the newly chartered Kingston Babe Ruth League will be the same as last year's Fraternal Youth League.

Organizations sponsoring clubs include Kiwanis, Volunteer Firemen, Kingston Patrolmen's Association, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Rotary, American Legion, Elks and Knights of Columbus.

A fund-raising committee has been set up and is currently in action. Frank Nadal is chairman and is being aided by Leon Studt and Lloyd Findholt.

League announced that September 1 would be determination date for Little League graduates. As an example, boys born no later than Aug. 1943 will be accepted as 13 year olds and will be eligible for play.

Several organizational meetings have been held. Officers in charge include Jim Gilpatrick, president; Studt, vice-president; Jake Chichelsky, secretary and Findholt, treasurer.

Durelle Wins In 7th by TKO

New York, March 26 (AP)—Yvon Durelle is a big frog in his own little pond. Outside of it he is nothing. Yvon knows it. He is a happy man.

Yvon, 27, and a veteran of nearly seven years of pro fighting says he is a fisherman first and a boxer second. He owns four fishing boats now and a fifth will join his fleet in June.

The solidly built native of Baile Ste. Ann, N. B., once held the Canadian middleweight championship and he is now the Dominion's light heavyweight king. His main ring ambition now is to win the Canadian heavyweight title from James J. Parker this fall and become the first ever to win the three Canadian crowns.

"To me boxing is just a sport," said Yvon after he stopped substitute Clarence Floyd, 167, an untested New Yorker, in 1:14 of the seventh round of a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Floyd, a 27-year old carpenter, subbed on a day's notice for injured Angelo DeFendis. It wasn't much of a contest. Durelle 175, gave Floyd a good shellacking and dropped him in the seventh round. Referee Joe LoBianco stopped it a half minute after the knockdown.

Fishkill Nips Godwins

Harry Parker's jump shot in the last 20 seconds gave Van Voorhis Lumber of Fishkill a thrilling 73-71 victory over Godwin's Upholstery in the semi-finals of the Hudson Valley basketball tournament at the Poughkeepsie YMCA last night.

In the other contest, Economy Cleaners of Newburgh topped the Staatsburg American Legion, 48-45. The Cleaners will meet Fishkill for the title Wednesday.

Godwin's, which upset Sicker's Delivery in the quarter-finals Friday, blew a big 22-3 first quarter lead on its way to losing. Fishkill whittled the margin to two points at the end of three periods as Art Kalaka scored 15 and Parker 10 in the surge.

With 2 1/2 minutes to go, Kalaka tied it up at 69-61 and then sent his team on top for the first time, 71-69, on two free throws.

Bud Smith scored for Godwin's with 1:37 left to knot it again. Fishkill then froze the ball until Parker unloaded the crusher.

Godwin's meet Staatsburg for third place in the opening game Wednesday.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

The first faint hint came from a major league executive in Florida.

Here in this pleasant Mormon town on the Arizona desert, the facts and figures surrounding the operation of the Cubs seem to make it much more stronger. That would be, of course, the report that Philip K. Wrigley, one of the old-line baseball names, is ready to listen to the first solid offer for the Chicago franchise.

The Bruins haven't been out of the second division in 10 years and last season plopped smack dab into the basement.

Home attendance dropped to 720,118, the club lost $160,000 and, making things worse, it's difficult for any practical baseball man to see that the outlook is any brighter.

The new Cubs' management, like the old, is trying to win in the National League with what is little more than a gifted Triple A club. I suppose the circumstances demand and it may eventually pay off, but for 1957, the Cubs once more are trying more than they can handle.

P. K. Wrigley sees more of the Cubs at neat little Rendezvous Park, 16 miles east of the business section of Phoenix, than he does all season. The chewing gum magnate drives down daily from his palatial home adjoining the Arizona Biltmore Hotel, in the shadow of nearby Camelback Mountain.

While he has served as president of the club for 23 years, P. K. Wrigley never shared the tremendous enthusiasm of his father, William Wrigley, Jr., for baseball. He doesn't see the Cubs at Wrigley Field in Chicago more than a half dozen times a year.

Exposed to them here in the Valley of the Sun, where everything else is beautiful and there is positively no pain, he can't help but be bitterly disappointed.

A lot could be written into Phil Wrigley selling the Wrigley Field his father built in Los Angeles and the Pacific Coast franchise that goes with it to the Brooklyn club. It easily could be the first step in a complete dispersal of his baseball properties. Anything but a demonstrative man, he will move quickly and quietly when—and if—he decides he has had enough.

Buyers will fall all over themselves, for the Cubs represent one of the superior franchises. The park is one of the two nicest and best kept in the majors. Situated on the north side, it is in a better neighborhood than most ball parks.

...The Cubs are the only major league club left who play only in the afternoon. Wrigley likes to say that he is pioneering daylight baseball. Experienced baseball men say that a winning club in Chicago would play to 2,000,000 paid admissions without night games. You can imagine what one would do under the arcs. For six years the Cubs drew more than a million admissions, with a maximum 1,485,166 back back in 1929. As many as 46,752 have been jammed into a park seating 10,000 less on a single afternoon.

But the Cubs' sustained lack of success saw attendance drop to 875,800 in 1955 and fall off 155,682 more last trip. Meanwhile the White Sox, situated much less advantageously on the south side, played to 1,175,684 and 1,090,000.

So, as he becomes more fed up than ever watching the Cubs practically in his own backyard in Arizona, maybe Philip K. Wrigley will decide that it's time for another change—this one at the summit.

Hawks Sweep Lakers To Gain Playoff Final

Minneapolis, March 26 —A madcap double overtime victory that wasn't officially sealed until 30 minutes after the final buzzer cleared the way today for the St. Louis Hawks maiden appearance in the National Basketball Assn. playoff finals.

Amid conflicting decisions by the referees and protests lodged by both coaches, St. Louis whipped the Minneapolis Lakers, 143-135 last night, to complete a three-game sweep of the teams' best of five Western Division finals.

From a post-game huddle involving rival coaches, referees, Arnie Heft and Norm Drucker, league president Maurice Podoloff and Jocko Collins, superintendent of NBA officials, emerged a decision to disallow Laker coach Johnny Kundla's protest.

Hannum Cancels Protest
St. Louis coach Alex Hannum gladly cancelled his own protest, lodged a few minutes before Kundla got his own in.

The upshot is that St. Louis tangles with Boston's Eastern Division champions Saturday at Boston in the opening game of a best of seven championship playoff.

Blurred in the haggling was the great pressure-playing of St. Louis' Bob Pettit and Slater Martin, and the 42-point production of Minneapolis' Bob Leonard.

With Minneapolis leading 114-112 and eight seconds left, Leonard passed it out of bounds to Charley Mencil. Drucker admitted afterward he became confused when Mencil caught the pass at the center line.

Drucker Makes Mistake
Drucker mistakenly ruled that Mencil could not go into the back court. He blew his whistle and awarded the ball to St. Louis.

Heft overruled him and gave the ball back to Minneapolis. Hannum delayed the game 10 minutes with his objections and finally made an official protest.

The Lakers subsequently lost the ball and Pettit pitched one in to tie the score with two seconds to go.

Here Kundla got into the scramble. When Mencil took the disputed pass from Leonard, the timekeeper ticked off three seconds while Mencil was ball-handling.

Time Set Back
Drucker ruled, however, that the three seconds was "dead time" because he had made an error in interpretation. As a result he had the time set back to eight seconds.

The Lakers argued that Pettit's basket, coming with two seconds left, was made in time which actually should have been already charged off.

Leonard saved the Lakers with two free throws in the last two seconds of the first overtime, which ended 131-131, but Pettit, Martin and Cliff Hagan made easy work of the second session. Pettit finished with 35 points.

Torpid Set For Spa Pace

Saratoga Springs—The world's champion Torpid, author of the fastest mile ever recorded by a two-year-old harness horse, has been nominated for the $5,000 Springwood Three-Year-Old Pace at Saratoga Raceway July 18. The Springwood is a feature of Spa Grand Circuit Week.

Owned by the Sherwood Farm of Irvington, N. J., Torpid closed out a brilliant juvenile campaign last fall when he raced to victory over the mile track at Lexington, Ky., in 1:58. The performance not only surpassed all previous standards for a two-year-old pacing colt, but beat the 1:58 1/5 mark which the sensational filly, Good Counsel, established earlier in the year at DuQuoin, Ill.

Torpid's 1:58 is a full two seconds faster than the world mark for juvenile trotters as set by Scott Frost in 1954.

Winner 17 Times
Victor in 17 out of 19 starts and winner of $73,376, a record sum for juvenile pacers, Torpid scored one of his victories in 2:02 3/5 at Roosevelt Raceway to set a world's half-mile track record for pacing colts that later was tied by Adios Express at Delaware, Ohio.

Torpid is one of nine nominees for the Springwood. Among those entered against him are three well-regarded colts, Great Adios, Newport Duke, and Meadow Rhythm, and the filly, Joan Genesee, which was named the two-year-old pacer of the year at the Spa last season.

The Saratoga Raceway racing strip, officially ranked as the third fastest half-mile track in the country and just a fifth of a second off the two fastest, Roosevelt Raceway and Delaware, Ohio, is receiving the finishing touches of a re-laying project begun last fall.

Rosewall Faces Gonzales in Net April 7 at Troy

When Jack Kramer's touring pro tennis troupe appears at the Troy Army Sunday, April 7 at 3 p. m., area net fans will probably see Ken Rosewall hit more shots off his forehead than any other currently active tennis player.

That's because Rosewall, Australia's anchor man on the Davis Cup team, possesses a backhand so feared by his foes that they just naturally steer the ball to the other side of the court.

Once in a decade a player comes along with such a stroke—in the 30's it was Don Budge in the 40's it was Frankie Parker.

For Rosewall, stroking a backhand is almost instinctive. So confident is he of this weapon that he steps in and slugs the ball for all he's worth. So perfect is his form, his swing, his timing that Rosewall can split the side-line with a sizzling backhand shot while under the extreme pressure of net-rushing rival.

Ken will oppose the fiery Pancho Gonzales, king pin of pro tennis, in the feature singles match. The other match pairs Pancho Segura, world pro-rum-runner with Dinny Pails, ex-Aussie Davis Cupper.

Option on Track

Charles Town, W. Va. (NEA)—Clint Murchison, Texas oil millionaire, took an option to buy the Charles Town Race Track for $4,000,000.

Boxing
Detroit—Archie Moore agreed to defend his light heavyweight championship June 7th against the winner of April 5 bout between Chuck Spieser and Tony Anthony.

Racing
Miami, Fla.—Federal Hill established a world record of 1:15 for 6 1/2 furlongs in an exhibition contest at Gulfstream Park. Ambiorum ($20.60) won the feature.

Bowie, Md.—Lord Chumley ($6) galloped to a three length victory in the Maryland Day purse at Bowie.

Oldsmar, Fla.—Stanley C. ($5.50) captured his third straight victory by winning the top event at Sunshine Park.

Lincoln, R. I.—Born Anew ($13.20) took the Central Falls purse at Lincoln Downs.

Hot Springs, Ark.—High Authority ($4.20) came on fast in the stretch to take a length decision in the Jonesboro purse at Oaklawn Park.

Team Sponsors To Get Protection

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The Assembly wants to make certain that sponsors of sandlot baseball teams are exempt from provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act. Despite the compensation board's reversal of a referee's decision, the Assembly passed unanimously last night and sent to the Senate a bill that would allow businessmen to sponsor teams without being liable for damages.

The referee had held that a sponsor must pay a $400 dental bill incurred by an injured 12-year-old player. He maintained an employee-employer relationship existed because the name of the sponsor's firm appeared on the boy's uniform.

Gov. Harriman had said that, if upheld, the ruling would have knocked out sandlot baseball.

Colgate Elects

Hamilton, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Theodore Boccuzzi, a junior from Stamford, Conn., will be captain of the 1958 winter track team at Colgate University. Coach John Warner yesterday announced the election of Boccuzzi, a sprinter and also a halfback on the school's football team.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES

Cage Group Changes College Free Toss Rule

Kansas City, March 26 (AP)—

The National Basketball Committee, tinkering with the college and AAU rules again, has changed the code on free throws and made a gesture against stalling.

The committee yesterday decided the first six common fouls in each half shall be one-shot violations. Free throws on succeeding fouls will be awarded under the present one-and-one bonus basis. A player gets a second shot if he makes the first.

The Big Ten used the rule during the past season. High schools, YMCA and Canadian players will follow the same code except for a slight difference—they will have four one-shot fouls instead of six.

Warning for Stalling
Taking note of "actionless or farcical games," the committee said unnecessary stalling by a team shall bring a warning from the game officials. A technical foul can be called if the warning has no effect.

The new rule is aimed at teams which refuse to provide action, the committee explained. Slowdowns will still be all right.

Minor rules changes included: Players other than the shooter shall not touch the ball on the rim of the basket or directly above. (Aimed at goal tending.) On double fouls there will be no free throws—just a center jump.

An out-of-bounds ball at the end zone can be thrown in from any position at either end of the court. (Area under the basket formerly was barred.)

Paul Hinkle of Butler University was re-elected committee chairman. Lou Wilke, Bartlesville, Okla., was named vice chairman and H. E. Foster, Wisconsin University, treasurer.

Forte Wins Ivy Scoring Crown

Philadelphia, March 26 (AP)—Chet Forte, Columbia University All-American, set four new records during the basketball season to win the Ivy League scoring championship.

Forte establishing a new career mark of 859 points, a single season standard of 403, a single season field goal mark of 127 and a free throw record of 144. Penn's Ernie Beck held the old career record of 831, John Lee, Yale, the seasonal total of 337, Chuck Rolles, Columbia the field goal standard of 126, and Harry Sacks, Harvard, the old foul shooting mark of 127.

Columbia, as a team, scored 1,158 points to lead the league on offense. Dartmouth held opponents to an average of 57.2 points per game to take defensive honors. Yale, with 772, topped the loop in rebounds, while Dartmouth committed the fewest fouls, 213.

Behind Forte in individual scoring came Ted Dwyer of Columbia with 267, John Lee of Yale, 241; Carl Belz, Princeton, 250, and Joe Tebo, Brown, 238. On a team basis, champion Yale trailed Columbia in the offensive department, scoring 1,018, with Princeton third (981) and Harvard fourth (976).

Defensively, on a team basis, Yale finished second behind Dartmouth, allowing 63.1 points per game, followed by Harvard (66.1) and Princeton (67.3).

Three-Legged Deer

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—That's many a strange animal in these West Virginia mountains. Witness: A small, three-legged deer that dashed across a runway at Kanawha Airport. An airliner was on the runway at the time, but airport officials said "there was no interference."

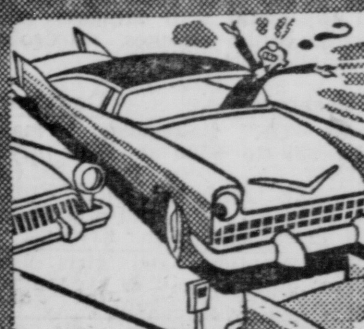

Braves Select Scout

Milwaukee, March 25 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves today named a retired United States Navy man as a scout in the Hawaiian islands. He is 59-year-old Jack Kearns, a native of Springfield, Ohio. Kearns, now a resident of Honolulu, retired from the navy four years ago.

THE MAN WHO OWNED MOBY DICK

It was actually a too-big car. At gas pumps, it drank like a fish. So he called it "Moby Dick."

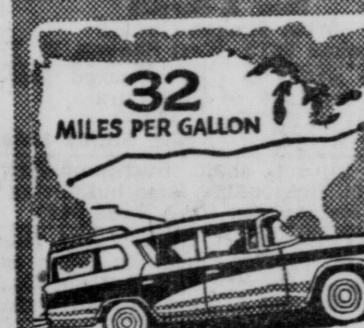

It even had fins like a fish. Parking it was like trying to squeeze a whale into a goldfish bowl.

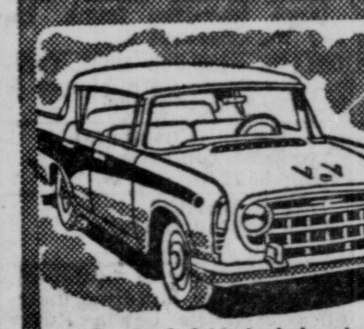

He thought about trading "Moby" for an economical little foreign car. It was too little for 5 kids.

So he bought Rambler, only car with room for six 6-footers, plus European car economy, handling ease.

It was a Rambler "6" that set the NASCAR cross country record of 32 miles per gallon with overdrive.

Rambler's 1st in trade-in value among all low-priced cars, because it's the smartest buy, new or used.

8-Inch Snow Hits N. Y. Areas

Buffalo, N. Y., March 26 (AP) — The spring blizzard that buried the great plains area over the weekend edged into western New York today and left up to eight inches of snow in some areas.

Cattaraugus county was hit hardest. Ellicottville reported eight inches of snow. Highway crews were out plowing and sanding the slippery roads.

About three inches of snow were reported in Chautauqua county.

Southern Erie county had about one inch and snow flurries hit this city.

CP Mothers Set Open House for Monday, April 1

The Cerebral Palsy Mother's Club will hold its annual open house night Monday, April 1, at 8 p. m. at the Palsy Center, 400 Broadway.

Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director, will introduce the various therapies and functions of the center.

Open house is held once a year to introduce the center to new families of the community so that they may better understand the meaning and treatment of the handicapped children.

All workers, teachers, parents and the public are invited.

Refreshments will be served.

Fessenden Place Being Converted To Club Residence

A new club-style residence hall will soon be ready for occupancy at 116 Fair street, it was announced today by Michael C. Starkman, spokesman for the management.

The former Fessenden residence at that site has been undergoing a major structural change and modernization program. The renovated building, expected to be completed in April, will be known as Vanderlyn Hall after John Vanderlyn, a native of Kingston and a renowned artist of the American Revolutionary War period.

Vanderlyn Hall will be operated as a quality multiple-residence establishment, suitable for persons of bachelor status on a permanent or semi-transient basis. Its rooms, designed for club-style living, will be available for both single and double tenancy.

The property was purchased some months ago from Mrs. Elizabeth Fessenden and renovations begun following consultation with officials of large employing firms in the area.

Both the interior and exterior of the four-story building are being entirely reconstructed and
